Stiff Fight
Put Up
By Lum

By JACK FREY

Incumbent Reeve Stanley Murphy defeated challenger Edward Lum by only 184 votes yesterday in Saanich, where only 22 per cent of the 25,962 eligible voters bothered to cast their ballots.

Mr. Lum, who led the polls most of the way and gave Saanich the closest reeve ship race it has known in years, said he still holds hopes of winning the reeve ship when the ballots are rechecked by the returning officer.

Reeve Murphy said "the contest for reeve ship establishes Ed Lum as a very well-respected citizen who will be heard from in the future." The small turnout of voters council seat. Sharing the victory limelight after hard-fought campaign are George Argyle, left, G. T. Horne and Arthur Mebs.—(Bud Kinsman)

Record

By BOB PETHICK

A record 57 per cent of Esquimalt's eligible voters turned out for yesterday's municipal election and gave overwhelming support to Reeve A. C. Wurtele and his three independent supporters.

New councillors to be sworn in at the end of the year are Arthur Mebs, George Argyle, a former Esquimalt councillor, and G. T. Horne.

The huge vote was an obvious gesture on the part of Esquimalt to vindicate Reeve Wurtele of intimidation charges made in council two weeks ago.

FIRST COUNT

From the time the first count was in there was little doubt about the outcome, with the three independent candidates leading by more than 100 votes. A gallery of interested spectators sat in the public seats in council chambers as municipal clerk Jack Allen rallied his staff in the vote count.

NOISE GREW

As the first votes were chalked up, noise in the chambers grew until the clerk had to call for silence.

The municipal hall was the scene of back slapping, interjected with a few "I told you so's."

WILL GET OUT

"Oh well, c'est la guerre," said defeated councillor Cassels. "I didn't think I was going to get in. But it goes to show one thing, give the people an issue and they will get out and vote."

Coun. Cassels was the mover of a motion of censure against Reeve Wurtele at a council meeting two weeks ago, the reason, many felt, that so many people went to the polls.

Overwhelming

New Hall Backed By Saanich Voters

Saanich voters last night indicated their overwhelming support for construction of a new municipal hall, when 69 per cent of the voters approved a municipal hall referendum which required a staggering 60 per cent support for approval.

Reeve Stanley Murphy announced within minutes of his re-election that the municipal hall bylaw will be given final reading at Monday's council meeting and that detailed plans will be called for from the architect so tenders can be called early in the spring of 1964.

BY SUMMER

"We hope construction of the new $785,000 hall can be started by summer, but we will be lucky if we get the hall finished by December 1964," he said.

Passage of the municipal hall referendum "indicates the people of Saanich are prepared to provide the necessary administrative quarters for the staff," said the reeve.

Youngest Reeve
In Office

By HARVEY SHEPHERD

Oak Bay electors last night endorsed the kind of government they've been getting in an election which gave Oak Bay its first woman councillor ever and its youngest reeve.

FIRST WOMAN

And they handed Mrs. Frances Elford a 2,145 to 1,939 margin over the next-highest polling candidate to give her a two-year term as the first woman ever to serve on Oak Bay council.

Incumbent councillors Walter Dodsworth and W. J. J. Wade topped the polls in their bid for two-year seats with 2,376 and 2,295 votes, respectively, and Mrs. Elford was next in line.

CRITICS FAIL

In the race for the three two-year terms the two most vigorous critics of council policy, lawyer Donald Cameron and school teacher Eric Makovski, lost out, polling 1,959 and 1,156.

In a race for a one-year term created by Coun. Watts' resignation to seek the reeve ship, Oak Bay public accountant Peter Lovric beat out colorful "light-house philosopher" Bill Scott by a resounding 2,708 to 772.

REEVE HAPPY

Reeve Murdoch said he was happy with the results, and said electors have chosen a council that will continue the calibre of government Oak Bay has had continuously for 37 years.

He said that he is happy to finally see a woman on council, that a woman's viewpoint is an essential thing in civic government and that Mrs. Elford is "a brilliant woman with a long list of achievements to her credit in the community."

LIGHT TURNOUT

But he was sharply critical of the light voting turnout—3,594 of an eligible 8,852 or 42.02 per cent, as compared with 45.1 per cent in 1961, the last time there was an election for reeve.

Reeve-elect Cox said he thinks the reeve's biggest job is promoting intermunicipal co-operation. He said he does not think the reeve's job is to dictate policy to council and he is "delighted" with the team of councillors elected—and to have a woman on council.

"I know Frances and I know she has an open mind," he said.

Cutbacks Hit Economy

Another Bad Blow!

Defence cutbacks announced in Ottawa yesterday is another serious blow to the economy of this area, said Victoria Chamber of Commerce president E. E. Pearlman.

"We appreciate the purpose of these cutbacks, nevertheless it is unfortunate that the West Coast seems to have suffered another blow to its economy," he said.

"It seems to me that the accumulative effect of the navy frigate cancellation, loss of a heavy water plant contract to eastern interests, along with military cutbacks is unfortunate to this whole area," said Mr. Pearlman.

At least six military operations near Victoria will be affected by Defence Minister Hellyer's plan for "judicious pruning of $31,750,000 from the skyrocketing defence expenditure estimated at $1,600,000,000.

Royal Roads military college, however, will be kept open even though its closure was recommended by the Glasco royal commission on government organization. Mr. Hellyer told the Commons yesterday.

FIRST REPORTS

First reports from Ottawa indicated that the naval reserve division HMCS Malahat, 1902 Wharf Street, will be disbanded; that naval reserve air squadron VC-922 at Patricia Bay Airport will be disbanded and that the navy's utility air squadron VU-33 at Patricia Bay will be reduced.

The navy's fleet of 20 auxiliary vessels, manned by 251 civilian personnel in Esquimalt, will be affected by a decision to take 10 of the navy's 160 auxiliary vessels out of service.

Vancouver Island's 1,000-member militia group headed by Col. Peter F. Ramsay, commander 25 Militia Group, also will be affected. If it is national policy, Canada's militia manpower from 31,000 to 30,000.

The RCAF Search and Rescue Unit at Vancouver will be transferred to Comox on Vancouver Island.

"This comes as no surprise but we don't know when it will take place or how we will be affected. If it is national policy, we would expect to take our lumps along with everyone else," said Col. Ramsay.

HMCS Malahat has about 180 officers, men and Wrens, under the command of Cmdr. Peter Thomas. The division administers 20 officer cadets from the University of Victoria, who are under the university naval training division.

Colonist 500 Fund

Here's How to Turn Old Toys Into Cash

Date of the annual toy auction which swells the funds of The Daily Colonist Christmas 500 Fund is fast approaching and toys are urgently needed.

The auction will be held at Maynard's auction rooms, 733 Johnson Street, Dec. 17.

Auctioneers' commission is turned over to the 500 Fund by Maynard's.

This annual toy auction gives Victorians a chance to turn discarded playthings into cash and help recipients of the 500 Fund as well.

Maynard's will accept for auction any toys still in good repair and Art Kool of Reliable Transfer Co. will pick them up and deliver them to the auction rooms free of charge where a reasonable number are available.

Anyone wishing to donate a toy for the auction may bring them to Maynard's auction rooms, 733 Johnson St., Monday through Saturday between 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Every cent raised by the auction and every cent donated to the 500 Fund goes to Greater Victoria's 500 most needy families as a Christmas present.

Donations may be brought or mailed to The Daily Colonist, 2631 Douglas, or left at Acousticon of Victoria during business hours.

Credit Group Told:

Dealers Get Kickback On Car Financing

TORONTO (CP)—The select committee on consumer credit was told that car dealers get a kickback of up to one-third of the cost of financing a car.

EXPENSE, RISK

Mr. Matthews described the rebates—which are increased for volume sales—as the dealer's "participation" for his expense in completing the credit transaction and for the risk he may assume in the event of repossession of the auto.

Currently, the repossession rate is "very, very good" although it normally runs at three to five per cent of sales, he told the legislative committee.

REALLY GIMMICK?

Donald MacDonald, leader of the New Democratic Party, said: "I have a suspicion this one-third is really a gimmick to get dealers to deal through GMAC."

"I wouldn't say that," replied Mr. Matthews, "we don't do more than others in the trade."

He told the committee "dealers consider the income from this participation an essential part of the business."

William Noden (PC-Rainy River) asked why this part should be included as income and an essential part of the business.

Hemisphere Aid Our 'Obligation'

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister said today Canada has a moral obligation to assist Latin America economically whether or not it joins the Organization of American States.

"We have got to take an increasing interest in Latin America," Mr. Martin told the Commons external affairs committee. It was an area vital to the peace of the world.

The minister said he hasn't yet made any recommendation to the cabinet on whether Canada should join the organization.

SOME OPPOSE MOVE

There is no strong public opinion in Canada on the subject but, Mr. Martin said, he has been surprised at the number of Canadians opposed to membership.

Canada could not overlook the growing significance of Latin America. He would not be surprised if new Commonwealth members in the Caribbean joined the organization. This would have a bearing on Canada's attitude.

Other points by Mr. Martin: 1. He hopes a Columbia River development agreement will be reached with the United States by the end of this year.

2. The U.S. has acknowledged Canada's right to establish a 12-mile fishing zone. It was hoped to hold final talks with the U.S. here in January.

UN POLICE FORCE

3. Canada hopes present Canadian, Scandinavian and Dutch standby forces will become the basis for a United Nations police force, which must precede any substantial disarmament.

4. Four new members should be added to the UN Security Council. There was a danger the British Commonwealth might lose its council seat.

5. It was "illogical" that Canada didn't recognize Communist China diplomatically while trading with her but "government is the art of the possible."

Californians 'Happily' Pay For Colleges

VANCOUVER (CP)—James Cairnie of Victoria, president of the B.C. Teachers' Federation, says that in California taxpayers foot almost the entire cost of two-year colleges and are happy to do it.

Just returned from an inspection tour of California junior colleges, he told interviewers Wednesday night that California taxpayers pay 100 per cent of capital costs and 75 per cent of operating costs.

NO TROUBLE

Junior college boards in that state could assess up to five mills of local taxes for college capital costs, plus 3½ mills for operating costs. If they need more they go to the people and "never have any trouble getting voter approval."

He said glowing reports he heard about two-year colleges made him tend to view them with some suspicion that they couldn't be "that good."

ALL TRUE

But he said he came back convinced that everything he had heard was true—that "two-year colleges offer a range of educational opportunities undreamed of a few years ago."

Vancouver voters will be asked to approve a two-year college for the city at next Wednesday's municipal elections.

Birth Curb Drive on In China

GENEVA (Reuters)—The International Red Cross is trying to persuade the population of Communist China to accept the idea of birth control, it was learned here.

Henrik Beer, secretary-general of the League of Red Cross Societies, says the league, in collaboration with the Chinese government, is conducting a propaganda campaign to break down Chinese psychological resistance to birth control.

The Chinese parliament recently discussed which birth control methods should be adopted for the 640,000,000 people once they accepted the idea, he added.

Not Enough

PREMIER BENNETT'S DECISION to foist no less than three portfolios upon the Honorable Mr. Kenneth Kiernan may have been brought about by any or all of a number of reasons.

One reason may have been that the premier looks upon Mr. Kiernan as being an exceptionally gifted man possessed of well above ordinary abilities.

Another may have been that the premier considers the departments involved so unimportant that they need not token direction and leadership.

And yet another reason may have been that the premier considers the Social Credit government rank and file so devoid of talent that he is reluctant to make further appointments to the cabinet.

On the other hand, of course, the whole business may simply have resulted from the premier's desire to economize on the rising cost of government. If the public chooses to look upon it in this light it then cannot fail to recognize that by the present move and his earlier doubling and tripling of portfolios under his present executive council colleagues, the premier is saving the province nearly $150,000 a year in minister's salaries, for today five of his cabinet members hold no less than 12 portfolios between them and none receives any extra remuneration for the increased responsibility.

Economically this move may be good, but politically — in the broad sense of the word — it is questionable. Because of this apparently continuing policy of reducing the cabinet the general public may soon be entertaining the suspicion that British Columbia is well on the way to becoming a bureaucracy as more and more authority is vested in senior civil servants in order to take up the slack caused by ministers being spread so thinly and overworked to such a degree that they cannot possibly do a proper job on any one of their departments.

Thus the saving of a few dollars on the cabinet level — dollars which doubtlessly will be spent somewhere else in any case — could well hasten the day that British Columbia becomes a province controlled, perhaps reluctantly, by a bevy of deputy ministers simply because there aren't enough ministers to go round.

Recognition

THERE WILL BE pleasure in this area over the posthumous award to the late Chief Mungo Martin of a Canada Council medal in recognition with other recipients of his "contribution to Canada's artistic, cultural and intellectual life."

It was here in Thunderbird Park, through the aegis of provincial government facilities, that Chief Mungo exploited the arts and crafts of his native tradition and became famous far beyond these confines for the totem poles he carved as memorials of his race.

The council also cites him for "his recording of songs, ceremonies and other Kwakiutl culture," and the bestowal of the medal thus pays tribute to the artistic values which the native Indian may add to the national life.

His totem carving happily is now being carried on here by his son-in-law, Henry Hunt, the heir of the chief's skills, and members of his family and all others of his race will be gratified that the name of Chief Mungo Martin has been added to the honor roll of the Canada Council.

The only regret is that recognition of his artistry and historical role should not have come while he was still living, so that he could have known of the honor so well deserved by this gifted son of his tribal fathers.

Never Too Old?

A NEW SCHOOL construction referendum is in the making for the Greater Victoria district, and trustees and principals are said so far to have found little to quarrel with in its proposed contents. Nor are the taxpayers of the area likely to fail to recognize when they vote in the spring that the 169 new classrooms at present envisaged are a necessity, and that no matter how much many residents may dislike the system of sharing the costs, nothing will be gained by adverse balloting. The community must have an adequate school system.

But while the trustees may be happy with what is included in the new program they should not be undisturbed about what is apparently left out: specifically the replacement of three antiquated, depressing and in some respects hazardous schools: North Ward, South Park and Victoria West. All are more than 65 years old.

Perhaps it is not the fault of the board that not even a start on substituting up-to-date accommodation for these dismal piles seems to be in sight. The superintendent will discuss with the education department a suggestion that South Park and Beacon Hill schools might be replaced by a new one, but he doubts that the government would approve this plan unless the whole cost were borne locally.

Does school plant then in the opinion of the provincial administration never wear out? Is there equality of opportunity in education when in the older districts of a city the children must go to classes in buildings so long outmoded as these, while their counterparts in the developing residential neighborhoods have all the advantages of modern educational amenities? Or does this not matter when the vicinities of the obsolete schools are deemed to lack the same social status as the fringes of suburban growth?

It surely will afflict the conscience of all fair-minded citizens, and particularly of the trustees, if the forthcoming referendum is presented without every effort having been made to include — with regular provincial participation — at least the beginning of a replacement program.

Thinking Aloud

By TOM TAYLOR

IT scarcely seems valid to consider the last war without Churchill at the British helm, the man who made the free world feel inches taller and imbued it with his own supreme courage and confidence.

It gives one the shudders to think of the possibilities had he not been there. Without his dynamic leadership we might easily have lost the war before it was half over.

As you would notice in the Colonist that vigorous Canadian octogenarian, Lord Beaverbrook, a figure at the heart of British politics in those crucial days, has been telling what he calls the "hidden story" of how Churchill became prime minister.

It was a notable instance of silence being golden.

At the grave moment in 1940 when Neville Chamberlain was being forced to resign, Lord Beaverbrook recites, only the people were for Churchill. The Establishment, Chamberlain himself, the King, the House of Lords — all these wanted Lord Halifax to head a coalition government.

Nor was Churchill in general favor with the Labor Party, he says.

Came the interview when Chamberlain asked Churchill if he would serve under Halifax. And the "great silence" on Churchill's part which spoke volumes. It was this, says Lord Beaverbrook, that "was our salvation."

Halifax was rejected and Churchill accepted.

The story has not been exactly hidden, however. Churchill relates the sequence of events in his own memoirs of the war. If more quietly phrased the situation as he depicts it is worth recalling.

On the morning of the German assault on Europe, May 10, 1940, Chamberlain realized the country needed a national government and that Labor would not serve under him. He summoned Churchill to Downing Street.

Writes Sir Winston: "There once more I found Lord Halifax. We took our seats at the table opposite Mr. Chamberlain. His demeanor was cool, unflustered, and seemingly quite detached from the personal aspect of the affair."

"I have had many important interviews in my public life, and this was certainly the most important. Usually I talk a great deal, but on this occasion I was silent. Mr. Chamberlain evidently had in his mind the stormy scene in the House of Commons two nights before, when I had seemed to be in such heated controversy with the Labor Party. Although this had been in his support and defence, he nevertheless felt that it might be an obstacle to my obtaining their adherence at this juncture."

"I do not recall the actual words he used, but this was the implication. His biographer, Mr. Felling, states definitely that he preferred Lord Halifax. As I remained silent, a very long pause ensued. It certainly seemed longer than the two minutes which one observes in the commemorations of Armistice Day."

"Patently it was a silence that carried its own message. 'Then at length Halifax spoke,' Churchill continues. 'He said that he felt his position as a peer, out of the House of Commons, would make it very difficult for him to discharge the duties of prime minister in a war like this. By the time he had finished it was clear that the duty would fall upon me — had in fact fallen upon me.'

"Then for the first time I spoke. I said I would have no communication with either of the opposition parties until I had the King's commission to form a government. On this the momentous conversation came to an end."

In the afternoon Churchill was called by King George VI, who looked at him quizzically and said: "I suppose you don't know why I have sent for you." Adopting his mood Churchill replied: "Sir, I simply couldn't imagine why." The King laughed and said: "I want to ask you to form a government."

There was no trouble about this. The Labor Party immediately agreed to join his administration, which he composed of all parties in the House.

"Thus," recounts Sir Winston in the closing chapter of the first volume of his memoirs, "at the outset of this mighty battle I acquired the chief power in the state. ... I was conscious of a profound sense of relief. At last I had the authority to give directions over the whole scene. ... I thought I knew a good deal about it all, and I was sure I should not fail."

Nor did he, as all mankind knows. Fate had guided the right man to the job.

Washington Calling

Presidential Succession

By MARQUEE CHILDS

NO ONE who has spent even a brief time with President Lyndon B. Johnson can doubt his remarkable vigor.

Even for the auditor a conversation with the man who was U.S. Senate majority leader and then vice-president is a physical exercise. While the visitor sits beside his desk he takes not one but two telephone calls simultaneously, speaking first on one extension and then another.

He bounces up and prowls the room with restless energy. His points are made with sharp emphasis as he speaks with machine-gun intensity. By way of underscoring what he is saying he pounds the desk and, leaning forward, he grips the arm of his listener to accentuate the gravity of his words.

The drive, the pace, as the last few critical and demanding days have shown, is unflagging. Yet, when this is said, the fact remains that in the cliché so often used one heart beat separates the presidency from House Speaker John McCormack. McCormack, who does not appear to be in the most robust health, will be 72 years old next month.

The fact, too, is that in July, 1955, Mr. Johnson suffered a severe heart attack. It was announced that he would be unable to resume his duties as majority leader during the current session of Congress. The acting leadership role was taken over by Sen. Earle C. Clements of Kentucky. Two months after the attack Johnson was discharged from Bethesda Naval Hospital after a report of "steady improvement."

When he had been in office only two months upon inheriting the presidency on the death of Franklin Roosevelt on April 1945, Harry S. Truman sent a special message to Congress on the presidential succession. The succession act, which had not been amended since 1886, provided that following the vice-president the office should pass to the president pro tempore of the Senate and then to the Speaker of the House.

Third in line would be the secretary of state, with the other cabinet officers following in the order of their rank. The then president pro tempore of the Senate — the majority member with the longest service — was Sen. Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee. McKellar, who concealed his age, had begun his service in the House in 1911, in the Senate in 1917.

Truman proposed that the order of 1886 be reversed and the Speaker of the House put first in line with the president pro tempore. Speaker Sam Rayburn was then 63 and regarded as one of the wisest and most knowledgeable men in the entire government.

Under the Truman plan a successor would hold office until the next Congressional election or until a special election had been called. The House, eager to endorse this tribute to Rayburn, adopted the Truman proposal almost at once, omitting the special election provision. Not until June 27, 1947, did a reluctant Senate follow suit.

Jealousy, sentiment, indifference have stood in the way of any realistic and far-reaching action on the succession.

The issue has been cloudy and confused from the beginning. The Founding Fathers were unhappy with the succession act approved in 1792 when many of the authors of the American system were still in Congress or the executive branch.

The president pro tempore of the Senate today is Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona. He is 85 years old. Neither McCormack nor Hayden has had any experience in foreign policy. Surely they must both feel a sense of dread that the presidency in a time of fearful responsibility and extraordinary peril might by some tragic mischance devolve upon them.

Surely therefore, this is the time to adopt a carefully thought out plan of succession. Congressional committees have piled up reports on the subject and political scientists galore have analyzed it. A broad range of proposals is at hand. They could be considered without lengthy committee hearings.

"You assume," a wise foreign observer once remarked, "that your presidents are immortal. In view of the record it is a false assumption as well. In view of the need for continuity of government, as a dangerous assumption."

So much is conveniently ignored, including what happens when a president is disabled. Woodrow Wilson lay paralyzed for a year and a half and the government, too, was paralyzed. The risks today are infinitely greater than they were then.

Paradox in Poland

Communist Youth Problems

By a Special OFNS Correspondent from Belgrade

WHILE Western countries watch amusedly Britain's "Beatlemania" and ponder their own manifestations of modern youth, the Communist world too has its problems of the younger generation.

In Poland youthful hooliganism and crimes of violence have become so widespread — resulting in four deaths — that in one week in mid-November the army has been called in to aid the police. Three of the four cases involved the attempted murder or wounding of policemen. One death decision — on a youth of 21 — was imposed after the justice ministry appealed a life sentence as being too lenient.

Polish courts generally are taking a tougher line with youthful offenders. In many cases, jail terms have been increased on prosecution appeals or probation over-riden and culprits sent to prison instead. Prison conditions have been made more rigorous for "bandits and hooligans."

A similar problem exists widely over Eastern Europe. The pattern varies but the original contributory causes have much in common. There is the failure of the Communist youth movements to provide satisfactory outlets which might channel exuberance into less socially harmful pursuits than prostitution and violence, and the failure of the regimes to understand or learn how to approach modern youth.

The paradox is that in Poland, where youth has more freedom than elsewhere in the area, the problem is most acute.

Compulsion still helps maintain membership of official youth movements in Rumania and Bulgaria, where to belong is a "must" for school and later advancement. In East Germany, where youth discipline has been rigorous, the strength of the Free German Youth is nonetheless declining steadily and many youngsters are they joined only to avoid trouble at school or to ensure passing examinations.

In Hungary, where a more understanding attitude is an important part of the Kadar regime's "new course," Youth League membership is increasing.

The regimes have generally abandoned the propaganda that juvenile erring is a legacy of the capitalist-bourgeois past. Even the most conservative — like the Czechs and the Bulgarians — are trying, with a curious mixture of efforts, to understand the young.

But a Sofia newspaper can still write of youngsters branded indiscriminately as hooligans: "Most frequently they have a calypso hairstyle, cowboy trousers and floppy multi-colored shirts. With them go girls with fluffed hair and umbrella-shaped skirts. As a spectacle it is not ugly. ... The ugly, the bad, is elsewhere. Inside them. These young people are empty. In their hearts is nothing but longing for pleasure — twisted dances, alcohol, women and a desire to realize their immature virility."

Even East Germany's Walter Ulbricht has now urged his youth movement to ascertain the "interests of youth" and to provide more sports grounds and dance halls.

But there is still the problem of Poland — "half free" Poland where the Boy Scouts have survived and boast a membership of over a million — many more than the party's Socialist Youth Union — where, since 1956, young Poles have enjoyed wider freedom — jazz clubs, jam sessions, Western books, films and theatre — than any other bloc youth. They are the envy of all other youth in Eastern Europe.

Yet, with this unrestricted outlet, hooliganism, violence and drunkenness among youth have increased to such an extent as to require the army to help the police to mark the streets and parks safe for ordinary citizens at night.

Poland, in fact, presents a picture of youthful frustration which is perhaps partly explained by these figures. Last year, only one in 14 of more than two million youths between 14 and 17 years was employed which, allowing for those still at school, probably meant a million without jobs. More than 25,000 juveniles were sentenced by the courts. Of 5,000 children between seven and 14, surveyed in Gdanek (Danzig), 42 per cent drank alcohol occasionally and 20 per cent frequently.

Yugoslavia — which is not in the bloc — whose youth know little or nothing of the earlier Stalinist restrictions, has as many young delinquents and it also has an unemployment problem.

Thus, where youth under Communism is most free it is also most violently rebellious. Whether the Communists can cope with this any more than the West, remains to be seen.

No Compromise

Love and the Irish

By SHAWN NEBBON

THERE is a symbol of the Irish spirit in something I once saw in Dublin. I was walking down Crampton Quay, enjoying being alive and being in Dublin, when I stopped by the window of a shop. The name above the window said C. WEBB. It was a bookshop and what-not, and there were pictures for sale.

One of the pictures was prominently displayed in the window: upside down.

Any man who really understands the Irish in Ireland, gives his custom to a shopkeeper like C. WEBB.

To understand the Irish outside Ireland one has to know all about the effects of resentment and a deep sense of inadequacy and a consequent desire to stuff off the native gifts of the Irish in exchange for the external assurance and status of the Anglo-Saxon Yankee; and of course, impatience to get in one or two generations, what the Yankee acquired in ten or fifteen. Everything else may be up side down with the Boston Irish, but never their pictures.

Well, I went into C. Webb's on Crampton Quay in Dublin and bought a book: "Irish Street Ballads," which was a good collection and was decorated with woodcuts from many of the original broadsheets.

It is also a very boring collection in at least one respect. If you live in a land of mud and submarginal farming, you have to have some sort of compensation and the two main Irish compensations have been the morbid compensation of "oppression," and praise of the incessant martyrdom of the Irish hero whose name is O'Leigh. This collection of ballads has the imbalance of Irish political thought in its choice of songs: there are far too many dead heroes in it.

And the Irish are not really like this at all. The Irish hero is about to pass — the IRA was suddenly bereft of recruits and supporters — and all I suspect, because Eire has its own television service. After all, when you think of being holed up under a thatch for a winter of rain or scotch mist, you can expect two things: songs of legendary action where real action is denied; and large families. What else is there to do?

Large families are habit forming and will no doubt continue but Peter Gunn and Wagon Train are almost certain to deprive the Irish hero of his justification for being.

Acrobatic, extreme and extravagantly romantic, but she'd do it. And if from her vantage point in the rigging she saw her true love in a wharf bar in some foreign port with another woman on his lily-white breast, the effect would not be well-bred restraint. The sailor would have good reason to sing to his tavern friends: "Coortin' in the Kitchen!"

Come single belle and heau to me now pay attention And love I'll plainly show Is the devil's own invention. For once in love I fell With a maiden's smile bewitching.

Miss Henrietta Bell down in Captain Phibb's Kitchen Rictorial-oor-all lah Rictorial-oor-all lah Rictorial-oor-all lah Rictorial-oor-all lah

The Irish, of course, are denied the legal compromises available to the Anglo-Saxon romantics. The Anglo-Saxon marriage, if it is deteriorating into a Queensbury brawl, can have a ten or fifteen-round limit: the Irish must stay in the ring till they drop, together or one at a time. The Anglo-Saxon might find this a sufficient reason for some sort of periodic truce but the Irish contempt for compromise makes this kind of hypocrisy quite impossible.

This is why I have always wondered about the ballad of Young Molly Ban. It is the touching story of a young farmer promised to Molly and waiting for the wedding day.

One day he went out hunting and on the same day Molly walked to her uncle's farm and was caught in a rain shower. She sheltered in a bush. And later the distraught lover sang:

With her apron all around her I took her for a swan And lovelied my gum and shot Molly Ban.

I never heard of a breach of promise case in Ireland, except among the Protestants of the north. When a southern lad hears something about his Molly or sees something in her that promises a life of misery, he closes his eyes and teeth and turns up for the wedding.

Unless, of course, there's a balladeer in him and he has a shotgun and knows what a swan looks like when it is sheltering from the rain in a bush in the middle of a field.

How Irish of that farmer, and how broken his poetic heart — no compromise for him. I have always wondered what it was he heard about Molly Ban, or what he saw in her. To his great and Irish credit, he did not breach his promise to marry her. What real Irishman would?

Most of Us Would Leave Country for Better-Paying Job

Canadian Patriotism Doesn't Exist

By HUGH GARNER

The Distinguished Canadian Novelist

Since the Second World War, various self-appointed professional patriots have been trying to stir up English-speaking Canadians into taking a nationalistic pride in Canada's achievements—whatever they may be. They are also busy designing flags that look like detergent boxes, practising their vocal scales on "O Canada," and searching madly for a Canadian hero to match Davy Crockett.

Such laudable but laughable patriotic societies as the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, Native Sons of Canada, and other historically-minded outfits, expect us to worship our forebears at historical shrines that have become surrounded by railroad sidings, Indian burial mounds that are overwhelmed by suburban bungalows, and so-called battlefields that were the scene of a minor skirmish in the War of 1812.

They have wasted their time. The average English-speaking Canadian has less patriotism than a Congolese, less nationalism than a Patagonian, and much less sense of his own history than a citizen of the Dominican Republic.

Canada won and deserved greatness in two world wars, and surrendered it as soon as the wars were over. Only at those times was Canada the equal of its allies, and bigger than most.

And I might add, capable of making Canadians real patriots for a while, instead of the ersatz anthem-singers and phony flag-wavers the vocal patriots want us to be today.

The attempts of our pseudo-patriots to stir us up has fallen like a cast-iron kite. Our nouveau-nationalism is pride of country on a stick: patriotism by persuasion, and an attempt by misguided zealots to hand out amor patriae to others by means of the written and spoken word.

Patriotism, unlike the emotions of hate and anger, is not transferable for the roots of nationalism and patriotism (ask any French Canadian) do not spring from rational thought but from irrational affection.

The Canadian who loves his country does so for reasons that are inexplicable by him, and he could no more tell you why he loves his country than why he loves his wife.

But do Canadians love their country today? We Canadians suffer from the biggest inferiority complex in the world. To us the centres of culture are not Montreal, Vancouver or Toronto, but New York and Hollywood.

We practise a fawning sycophancy toward any third-rate celebrity from England or America who consents to pay us a visit, for money, and it is open house on our TV networks for every no-talent bum from south of the border.

Most of us like Canada as a place to live—but many of us would give it up in a minute for the offer of a better-paying job somewhere else. In 1961, 47,470 Canadians left to live in the United States, 32,000 of whom were Canadian born.

VIEWPOINT

In this they joined such Canadian celebrities as Sir William Osler, Percy Williams, Almee Semple Macpherson, Cyrus Eaton and Barbara Ann Scott. Our writers, actors, athletes, doctors, engineers, nurses and scientists form large ex-Canadian colonies from New York to Los Angeles.

The Canadian Committee on Biculturalism has recently discovered a sobering truth—there are no distinct "Canadians" as such, but only what they refer to as "ethnic and lingual members of the Canadian Mosaic."

In other words, we have not been absorbed into a Canadian melting pot, but have each retained the pride in and patriotism for the country of our birth or ethnic origin.

The ladies of the IOOE, bless 'em, are still trying to hide their social snobbery behind a love of country, but the Native Sons of Canada have disappeared at least from the Toronto phone book.

A few years ago this organization had a real ball of fire named Bernard Glum as its spokesman, who set off sparks in letters to the press about the lack of patriotism among Canadians. After an intramural argument with other native sons he was dismissed, and disappeared.

Ironically enough he later turned up, in all of places, Los Angeles, California. Maybe the headquarters of the Native Sons of Canada moved there with him. It wouldn't surprise me a bit.

Algerian System Not Working

France Worried

By STEPHEN COULTER, from Paris

Algeria's socialist experiment, the turning over of former French estates, shops and factories to peasants and workers to run by themselves, is being jeopardized by speculation, and lack of industrial discipline, it is officially admitted.

The managing president is alleged to have sold off the factory's entire stock of steel bars to a firm in the Lebanon at half the world market price in order to raise some quick cash for himself.

The president of the Workers' and the chief accountant of one of the largest factories in Algeria have been arrested on fraud charges on the direct orders of the economic minister, Bachir Boumazza, who went to Oran to investigate reports of corruption and a mounting $168,000 deficit at the Aclor steelworks.

The managing president is alleged to have sold off the factory's entire stock of steel bars to a firm in the Lebanon at half the world market price in order to raise some quick cash for himself.

Algerian officials are proud of "auto-gestion," or the self-management system which is their answer to the problem created last year by the sudden abandonment of farms, shops and factories by a million French settlers who could not face the idea of a Muslim-run Algeria, or who were frankly fearful for their lives.

The system provides for the election of a management committee by the workers and the appointment of a director by the state to advise and help the committee.

This "do it yourself" socialism has been applied to such varied enterprises as farms, garages, one-man bakeries, shops and a chain of biscuit factories employing 600 people.

The results have been very mixed as I saw for myself during a tour of farms and factories near Algiers.

Accounts are the big headaches. On one 5,000-acre estate, the All Baba farm, accounts were being handled by a 19-year-old peasant who was barely literate in either French or Arabic.

The average agricultural wage seems to be about $10 a week, but President Ben Bella has repeatedly promised workers that they are going to receive a share of the profits at the end of the year.

On theory the profits are supposed to be split equally between the state, the workers and the capital investment fund, but no workers I spoke to had any illusions about a share-out this year.

Fresh hints that the Algerian government is thinking of nationalizing Sahara gas and oil are causing concern in Paris. The French government has gone out of its way to give a warning that if the Algerians intend to disregard the clauses of the Evian agreement, which settled the Algerian war, it "will have extremely grave consequences."

The oil clauses are among the few stipulations of the Evian agreements which the Algerian government has not flouted since independence.

The French have pointed out that the departure of the local French population from Algeria has eliminated one of the strong French ties of feeling for Algeria. This is another way of reminding the Algerians that France has no longer this major reason for not being firm.

The government has run into a good deal of trouble in parliament for its credits to Algeria and there is strong feeling in France about the wisdom or necessity of pouring millions into a country which consistently bites the hand that feeds it.

These Five Men Will Produce China's A-Bomb

By KIP COOPER, from Tokyo

While its capacity to produce a delivery system appears limited, Communist China has numerous nuclear scientists who are speeding development of an atomic bomb — including one trained in the United States.

The U.S.-trained expert is Chien Hsueh-shen, considered their top rocket man. A graduate of Chiao Tung University, Shanghai in 1935, he went to the United States that year and studied aeronautical and aerial dynamics at California Institute of Technology, receiving a doctorate there.

He later served as an associate professor there and was a full professor when he decided to return to China in 1950.

U.S. authorities detained Chien in Hawaii on his trip back to China and he was held for five years as a subversive, finally being repatriated in exchange for several Americans detained by the Red Chinese.

Continued speculation on Red China's progress in developing atomic weapons has given rise to a study of other scientists involved in the work headed by Chien.

Studied in France

One of these is Chien San-chiang, also widely known as a top-level scientist. After graduating from Peking's Chianghua University in 1936, he studied nuclear physics in France under Joliot-Curie. He was awarded a doctorate in 1943 when France was under German occupation.

In 1946, Chien won a French Academy of Sciences award for outstanding nuclear physics work. He received world-wide attention in 1940 when he discovered the third and fourth fissions of radium nucleus.

Chien San-chiang is credited with laying the groundwork for Red China's atomic development. He made trips to Russia in 1953 and 1954 and arranged Chinese-Soviet co-operation in scientific research work.

Red China's Atomic Energy Institute in 1958, the year China received its first experimental reactor (from Russia). He is 53.

Wu Yü-hsun, 66, is a graduate of the University of Chicago. He is vice-president of the Chinese Academy of Sciences and represented China in negotiating atomic energy agreements between Communist China and East European satellites.

Li Suikuang, minister of geology and another vice-president of the Chinese Academy of Sciences, is 74. He is reported to have played a dominant role in developing Red China's atomic energy manufacturing through his laboratory work on uranium.

Studied in Russia

Wang Kan-chang, about 45, headed a group of Chinese scientists who were sent to Russia in 1956 to study at a nuclear institute near Moscow.

About 950 of China's estimated 10,000 nuclear scientists were trained in the Soviet Union between 1956 and 1960. Russia gave China an experimental reactor in 1958, the year Vice Deputy Premier and Foreign Minister Chen Yi startled the world by announcing China's intention to build a nuclear arsenal.

On Oct. 28, 1963, he told visiting Japanese newsmen Red China would make the bomb "even if our people have to go without trousers."

A 1960 report by General Electric experts, as well as intelligence sources not generally quoted, say Red China has the capability to produce nuclear weapons by its own efforts. It is known China has built nuclear reactors at Peking, Chungking, Shenyang and Sian.

Some people have said China's first bomb explosion will be of no consequence except to "scare the pants off Russia" and maybe blackmail its way into the United Nations. "China still has no delivery system," say these people.

Other authorities have estimated China will have a strategic striking force with thermonuclear capability by the early 1960s.

The bitter pill is that some of China's top scientists got their know-how in the West.

Rumania Repeats

Communist Rumania, which kicked up a fuss in the Soviet bloc earlier this year by ignoring Moscow's advice and ordering equipment for a steel plant from the West, has turned to the West again.

Party chief Gheorghe-Dej, has announced that Rumania's key industrialization project—a big aluminum plant at Slatina in south-west Rumania—will be built by French and West German companies.

Home Visit Set

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Douglas Home will visit Canada for talks with Prime Minister Pearson, Feb. 10 to 12. It was officially announced here Thursday.

The British prime minister last met Pearson in Washington when they attended President Kennedy's funeral Nov. 25.

The Canadian visit will immediately precede Douglas Home's visit to Washington for talks with President Johnson scheduled for Feb. 12-13.

Foreign Secretary Richard A. Butler will accompany Douglas Home.

It is customary for British prime ministers to visit Ottawa on their way to or from discussions in Washington.

Prior to his talks with Pearson, Douglas Home will have conferred with West German Chancellor Erhard whom he meets in mid-January.

Pearson will pay a visit to French President de Gaulle in Paris at about the same time.

By then, too, Butler will have met his Canadian counterpart, Paul Martin, at the NATO ministerial council in Paris Dec. 16-18.

Pearson Paris Bound

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson will visit Paris Jan. 15, 16 and 17 to confer with President de Gaulle, External Affairs Minister Martin informed the Commons external affairs committee Thursday.

Mr. Pearson will go to Washington Jan. 22 for talks with President Johnson.

Mr. Martin said work has started on the matters to be discussed in Washington but that he couldn't say at the moment what they are.

Hope Jolted

'Meatball' Rejected By Japan

TOKYO (UPI) — Japanese war criminal Toyoma (Meatball) Kawakita's hopes of leaving an American prison to take up residence in Japan have been jolted by a Japanese government ruling that Kawakita is not a Japanese citizen.

Kawakita, accused of mistreatment of American prisoners of war, has served 15 years in McNeil Island federal prison in Washington.

LAST ACT

He was pardoned by President Kennedy in one of the last official acts before the president's assassination.

The Sanke Shimbun newspaper reported Thursday that the Japanese consulate in Seattle has balked at issuing Kawakita the visa he will need to get out of prison and return to Japan.

Kennedy made Kawakita's release conditional on his leaving the United States.

Born in America, Kawakita came to Japan to be educated before the Second World War. During the war he served as an interpreter at prison camps, and gained an infamous reputation with American prisoners.

RETURN TO U.S.

In the post-war confusion, he managed to persuade American authorities that he had not fought the war in Japan and was permitted to return to the United States. His citizenship was confirmed in 1946.

Not long afterward, a former prisoner of war recognized him in a Los Angeles department store and reported him to the police. Kawakita's trial and prison sentence followed.

German Bid

Firm Tries Rockets

LUXHAVEN, Germany (UPI)—A West German rocket firm yesterday test-fired four military rockets to an altitude of 90,000 feet and announced it had signed a contract to deliver missiles to an unnamed foreign country.

However, a West German government spokesman in Bonn said, "It is not contemplated to issue export licences for this or any other firm to sell military rockets abroad."

COMPLETE SUCCESS

The missiles fired yesterday were a two-stage rocket and three one-stage rockets. A spokesman for the firm, Weapons and Aviation Armament Corp., of Hamburg, said the firings were a "complete success." The rockets used solid fuel.

"We can produce any tactical rocket weapons system on order," firm director Richard Stengler said. "Germany has the know-how in the field, as is well known. We think we can do at least as well as the Americans and the Russians. We know what they are doing. We get their data."

GENERALS PRESENT

About 100 invited spectators, including Brig. Gen. Ibrahim Othman of Jordan, and Brig. Gen. Al Harf of Saudi Arabia, witnessed the demonstration near this North Sea resort. There were no indications the United Arab Republic sent an observer. West German scientists have been reported building rockets in Egypt, however.

'Jew-Hating' Germans In Egypt

VANCOUVER (CP)—David Rivlin, Israel's consul-general to Canada, says Egypt has more than 700 German scientists working there and "most of them are Nazis working out hatred for the Jews."

He also told a press conference Israel "is terribly concerned" about a build-up of Russian arms in Egypt, which borders Israel on the south.

Foreign Aid Bill Ends In Saw-Off

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House-Senate conferees agreed Thursday night on a compromise $3,599,000,000 foreign aid bill that also restores the president's authority to give Poland and Yugoslavia "most favored nation" trade status.

The bill would authorize another year of economic, military and technical assistance overseas.

The late President Kennedy asked a $4,053,000,000 authorization but the House cut the total to $3,500,000,000 and the Senate voted only $3,700,000,000.

The compromise total is roughly halfway between the House and Senate figures.

The compromise bill goes first to the House, which is expected to consider it next week, and then to the Senate. The authorization still must be followed by an appropriation bill.

Christine Loses Round One

LONDON (AP)—Christine Keeler, leading figure in the sex scandal which nearly upset the British government last summer, lost the opening round in her trial on perjury and conspiracy charges Thursday before a scant audience.

As their first step, Miss Keeler and her co-defendants, through their lawyers, moved to quash the charges of "conspiracy to obstruct justice" and perjury.

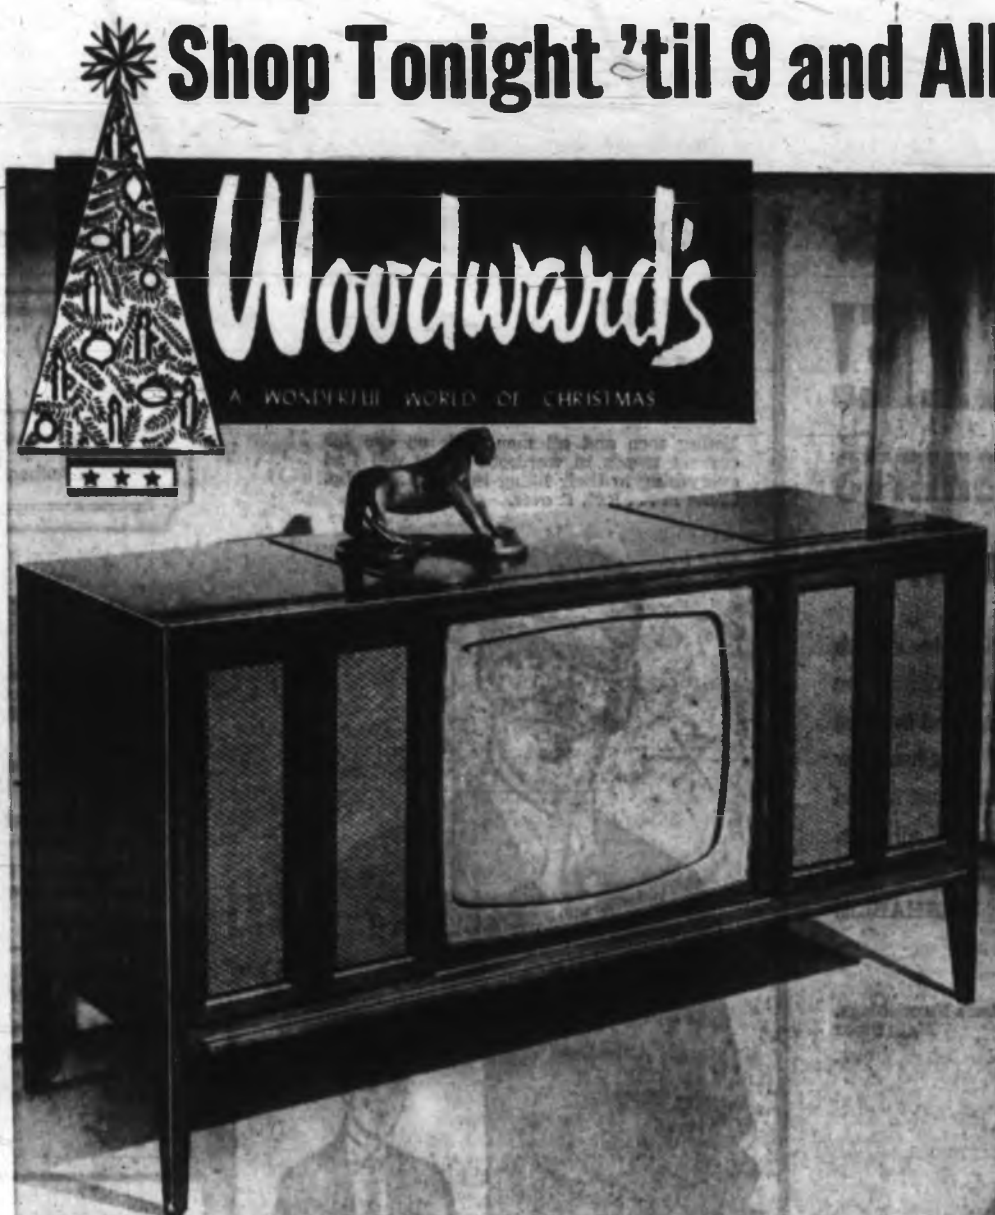

At the end of the day, Judge Sir Anthony Mawles dismissed the motion and ordered the case to proceed today.

What the Crown charges is this:

Christine, her apartment-sharing friend, Paul Hamilton-Marshall 23, and her housekeeper, Mrs. Olive Brucker, 56, plus West Indian Rudolph Fenech, joined in a conspiracy. They agreed, says the state, to lie or not give information about the night Aloysius (Lucky) Gordon, a Jamaican jazz singer, burst into their party. Gordon got three years for assaulting Christine. That was quashed by the High Court on Appeal. The reason for the decision lay in a tape recording Christine made later as part of a deal to sell her life story.

B.C. Forest Got Bargain Lumber Industry Feels

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

B.C. Forest Products has increased its total timber holdings by 10 per cent as a result of its purchase of Moore-Whittington Lumber Company.

Moore-Whittington held a tree farm licence in the Nittinat Lake area, and also some privately owned timber in the Parksville area. The main holdings, however, are in the Nittinat area where about 47 per cent of the timber is excellent quality fir.

Opinion in the lumber industry is that B.C. Forest Products has made a good bargain, as timber from Nittinat can be easily moved by road and water to the company's Lake Cowichan plant at Youbou or by water to the Victoria sawmill and plywood plants.

ALUMINUM SURPRISE

Aluminum shares got another boost Thursday when Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corporation of Oakland, Calif., announced it would raise from Dec. 16, the price of its primary ingot from 23 cents to 24 cents a pound.

This is the second similar increase made in aluminum ingot prices in the past two months.

Other producers, including Aluminum Company of Canada, were taken by surprise by the Kaiser move.

Kaiser is No. 3 aluminum producer, with Alcoa and Alcan No. 1 and No. 2 respectively. Alcoa and Alcan have both recently indicated they did not expect the price of primary ingots to increase further.

The Canadian firm in particular is not anxious to raise aluminum prices because of the stiff competition aluminum faces from other metals such as copper, steel and zinc.

HUGE COPPER EXPORTS

Two more shipments of copper ore from the Bethlehem Copper Corporation have been shipped from Vancouver to Japan during November. They were the 10th and 11th shipments made since its Highland Valley mill opened in February 1963.

Tenth shipment of 1,990.3 tons was valued at $530,118 and the 11th of 2,522.9 tons was valued at $672,355.

Sufficient concentrates for the next shipment are already at Vancouver docks and two more ships are expected to load before the end of the month.

To date, invoiced value of all Bethlehem shipments to Japan is $6,251,205, says H. H. Huestis, president.

STUDENTS WATCH TAPE

Thirty students from Oak Bay High School invaded the board room of Hagar Investments Thursday morning in search of knowledge about how the investment industry works.

Commerce students were accompanied by their teacher

Frank W. Gower, and they were initiated into the mysteries of the stock exchange tape, and shown the speed with which orders punched through the latest electronic equipment could be completed and confirmed from the floors of the Toronto, Montreal or Vancouver stock exchanges.

The students were invited by Stewart Hagar, director of the firm, who had earlier in the week given an hour lecture on investment business in the Oak Bay High School.

Wheat Price Too High Says Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union blamed American grain exporters Thursday for the deadlocked negotiations over proposed Russian purchase of U.S. wheat.

In a statement, the Soviet embassy said that prices quoted by American traders were "considerably higher" than those of the world market and, therefore, "could not be accepted."

The embassy said it issued the statement because it has received a number of inquiries from American firms concerning the wheat negotiations. It said that the agreement to buy wheat in the U.S. was reached on the government level last November with the understanding that the grain must be offered "at reasonable prices in relation to the world market."

The embassy said it clear on the other hand, that it did not wish to close the door to further talks and said the Russians are ready to consider "competitive offers."

Edgelow Accused Of Vote-Hunting On Bowker Issue

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow was accused of vote-seeking when he asked city council yesterday to approve inclusion of $170,000 for covering of Bowker Creek in the capital budget tentatively scheduled to be put to a ratepayers vote next spring.

"I'm in favor of doing something about this problem at the right time," said Ald. J. L. W. McLean. "But I would like to know if there is a new crisis in the Bowker Creek situation or is this sudden, almighty haste due to the fact that there is an election one week from today?"

Both aldermen are seeking re-election along with Ald. Millard Mooney and Ald. Lily Wilson when Victoria voters go to the polls next Thursday.

Ald. Edgelow said he proposed the resolution that would have included the project in the capital budget because Doncaster area residents petitioned council for action several weeks ago. There had been similar petitions on several occasions in recent years. Since the latest petition was received, he said, engineering department officials have been studying needs of the creek in this area and have come up with an estimated cost figure of $170,000.

Ald. Mooney said he supported the principle of continued action on the part of the city to eliminate the Bowker Creek problem, but added "this is not the right time to make a definite decision to proceed."

City manager Dennis Young suggested that it would be possible for aldermen to direct that covering of Bowker Creek be one of the projects considered for inclusion in the capital budget draft, and this was done by unanimous vote.

New Faces, Schools in Port

There'll be new faces around Port Alberni's city council table following Thursday's municipal elections—and apparently new school facilities in the city's future.

Just before press time Eric Leslie "Les" Hammer had a commanding lead in a six-man race to fill the mayoralty vacated by long-time Mayor Loran Jordan.

ALDERMANIC RACE

Of nine men seeking three two-year council seats, newcomer Howard McLean was leading the poll, with George Reynolds second and Jack Perry third.

The vote in favor of a $2,000,000 school bylaw referendum was 82.7 per cent in Alberni and the rural areas, and had a lead of 786 to 368 in Port Alberni itself. The referendum requires a 60 per cent favorable vote to pass.

In Nanaimo, where Pete Maffeo had been re-elected by acclamation, seven candidates ran a tight race for three aldermanic seats—and one of three incumbents seeking reelection lost out.

Newcomer Ted Barsby headed the poll, with Ald. Bus McDonald and Ald. John Cook following him into office.

Two school bylaw referendums won substantial favorable votes, one receiving a 71.8 per cent city-rural combined vote, the other a 72 per cent vote.

Reeve Donald Morton of North Cowichan was returned to office, defeating Anthony Staples who had resigned his council seat to contest the reeveship.

While there was no mayoralty race in Duncan, with Mayor Jack Dobson returned by acclamation, wide interest was centred on two plebiscites—one seeking an opinion on Sunday movies; the other on city purchase of land from the Cowichan Cricket Club.

Both of these were given big favorable votes.

Sculptress Has Show

An exhibition of sculpture by a Victoria artist Mrs. Elza Mayhew, will open on the University of Oregon campus Dec. 11.

Mrs. Mayhew is a graduate student of the University of Oregon and was winner of the 1962 Sir Otto Beit medal for sculpture.

The exhibition by Mrs. Mayhew at the university is actually a preview of work to be shown in Europe next spring.

Mrs. Mayhew, who is considered the outstanding British Commonwealth sculptor, had her creation "The Onlookers" purchased by the National Gallery in Ottawa.

Key U.K. Tory Wins Seat But Party Fortunes Dip

LONDON (CP)—The Conservative government suffered disappointments Thursday in two byelections, one of which saw Science Minister Quintin Hogg win a House of Commons seat as expected.

However, Hogg, the former Viscount Hailsham and a key man in the Conservative party, saw the Tory margin of victory in London's St. Marylebone election district slashed by nearly two-thirds in Thursday's voting. Also the Conservative share of the vote slumped 9.5 per cent below its total in the 1959 general election.

The other disappointment for Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home and his supporters came in Manchester's Openshaw district, one of three places holding byelections Thursday.

Hogg

There, with the total vote much reduced, the opposition Labor party held the House of Commons seat—slightly increasing its former winning edge of 1859.

In Openshaw Labor increased its share of the total vote by almost six per cent, while the Conservative share dropped by more than 10 per cent.

The slump in the Conservative share of the total votes in St. Marylebone and Openshaw followed the monotonous pattern of many byelections over the last two years that have seen the ruling party's political stock dip low.

Sidney Not Ruffled

Sidney village chairman A. A. Cormack said after his reelection last night the voting indicated Sidney citizens appreciated his commission "despite attempts to stamper them by irresponsible persons."

He did not elaborate on the attempts.

Chairman Cormack and one of his commissioners, Mrs. E. M. Roberts, were re-elected. Another commissioner, J. G. Mitchell, was defeated in the voting.

He said the healthy financial state of the area was reflected in the vote, and promised the already-built civic centre would be paid for within two years with no increase in taxes. It cost $35,000.

In Central Saanich, three councillors were chosen. Two of them—Charles Mollard and Raymond Lamont—were incumbent, and newcomer Phillip Benn defeated Percy Warren, who had been on the council 11 years.

Percival Lazarz and James McKevitt were also defeated.

Staffs Taking Strike Vote

A strike vote is being taken among all B.C. employees of Mc and Mc amid threats of a threatened lockout.

E. M. Sinclair, Victoria sales manager of McLennan, McFeely and Prior, and John Squires of Vancouver, representative of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Clerks Union (CLC) both confirmed last night that the strike vote is being held.

DECLINE COMMENT
Both declined to discuss details of the dispute.

Mr. Sinclair said a majority of the 18 Victoria workers affected have voted against a strike. The hardware wholesale firm has headquarters in Vancouver and branches in other B.C. centres.

Mr. Squires confirmed but would not comment on an anonymous Victoria report that management has said it will lock out employees in the event of an unfavorable vote.

Mr. Squires said the vote has been held up by challenged ballots in Vancouver, some other centres have not voted yet, and results of the strike vote should not be known until early next week.

Harry Kirkpatrick of Vancouver, vice-president and general manager of the firm, could not be reached for comment last night. The president of the firm is a Toronto man.

Englishman's Home Castle Punching Peer Persists

LONDON—It's all right for an Englishman to punch a policeman in the nose, under certain circumstances, according to Lord Parker, the lord chief justice. Lord Parker cleared Sir John Barton of a charge of assaulting a policeman who came to take him from his home for observation at a hospital under the Mental Health Act. The policeman, acting on a request by Sir John's wife, received a broken nose.

"If a householder is not to submit to his liberty being infringed in his house I cannot see that to hit out with his fist is an unreasonable use of force," Lord Parker said.

"It's kind of surprising to look out your window and see a car go past on the lawn," a Victoria man said Wednesday, but that's just what happened Tuesday night.

Clifford Cook, 2535 Shelbourne, said he was watching television when he saw a car drive over his front lawn. He went out to the car, but the driver accelerated and drove away.

The driver had apparently entered the lawn from a back lane, driven around on it, carefully avoiding shrubs and bushes, then left when Mr. Cook appeared.

The lawn was ruined.

LOS ANGELES—Moose Skowron, who tried to make up for a poor season with a great world series, is reportedly due to be traded to Washington Senators within the next few days.

That was the word from the major league baseball convention here yesterday, a few hours after another trade had made

.209 in 89 games during the season, but had two singles and a home run against the Yanks in the world series as the Dodgers took it in four straight. Bunning 32, had a 12-13 record last season after seven outstanding years with the Tigers. Triandos, 33, hit .240 and hit 14 home runs. Demeter, 28, hit .258 with 22 homers last season, and the 24-year-old Hamilton was 2-1 with the Phils before being farmed out.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J.—In Nigeria the round, reliable trainer, Jimmy August, asked for a corned beef sandwich. The waiter said certainly and disappeared for an hour. He returned in triumph with the contents of a can of corned beef hash spread on bread.

"You know why that happened," Dick Tiger reminded his trainer over a jar of tea in the lounge of their boardwalk hotel here. "You would not stay in a Nigerian hotel, it had to be that Lebanese hotel."

Hotels-schmotel, August said, Tiger was welcome to all of 'em from Ibadan to Ogbomoso. Jimmy is not the jungle type, having handled fighters in Stillman's Gym on New York's Eighth Avenue. He says his digestive system hasn't yet recovered from his summer visit to Tiger's homeland, where Dick defended the middleweight championship of the world against Gene Fullmer.

"It was the rainy season," Tiger explained. "Rainy?" August said. "Only for seven weeks, day and night."

Thanks to the sagacity of Jack Solomon, the enterprising promoter from London's Great Windmill Street, the rain abated in time for the fight. A local rain doctor wanted 14,000 pounds—$39,200—to whip up fair weather and Solomon said he wouldn't buy snow at those prices. He brought in a freelance sorcerer from the sticks whose jujus and amulets did the trick.

Freelancer for 14 Cents

"For how much?" "For about 14 cents," August said. "How was the fight with Fullmer?" "It was a good fight," Tiger said. "No, not so hard."

It was hard for Fullmer, who got his face punched off, and for Gene's trainer, Angelo Curley, who couldn't take it after the seventh round and surrendered on behalf of his fighter.

Fullmer had been fighting professionally for 12 years, seven on the championship level, and had been stopped only by Ray Robinson, whose perfectly timed left to the jaw caught Gene lunging forward.

Saturday night in the Convention Hall here, Tiger defends his title against an opponent at least as rugged as the awkward gladiator from the Utah mountains. In 16 years, Joey Giardello has had 123 fights, twice as many as Fullmer, and was stopped only by a busted eye inflicted by Spider Webb.

In two fights in 1959, Giardello and Tiger split ten-round decisions.

"I won both," Tiger said, "but did not get the decision." He spoke without rancor and didn't expand the point. Economy of speech is habitual with him, though the language is no barrier. English is the official language of Nigeria, and Tiger boxed in Great Britain for three years before Jersey Jones brought him to the United States.

Powerful Adversaries

Before going to England he had fought professionally for three years against adversaries named Easy Dynamite, Black Power, Mighty Joe, Lion Ring, Koko Kid, and Super Human Power. The British Empire middleweight champion was plain Pat McAteer. Dick took him out in nine.

It was suggested that Tiger must be a big man in his country, a hero like Hogan Bassey, the former featherweight champion and coach of Nigeria's 1960 Olympic boxing team, who holds a government position in sports.

"Yes," the fighter agreed simply, "while I am champion. It is good to be champion."

Giardello has said that he feels he must win because, at 33, he can expect no more big chances.

"I am a year older," Tiger said. "I am 34, but I do not think about afterwards. What I would do depends on how much money I have. I feel I'm just getting started making money. If I had enough, I know what to do with it. Yes, I have a little car."

"A Mercedes-Benz," Jimmy August said. "He had a Peugeot first. Now his wife has that. What did the Mercedes cost, Dick?"

"About 2,300 pounds, around $5,500."

"Guess what he's picked out to take home to his wife," August said. "A wig. Win or lose, a wig."

Christmas Golf Entry Forms To Appear Next Wednesday

By HARRY YOUNG

Canada's most popular winter-golf competition will be played this year at Uplands Golf Club Thursday, Dec. 26. The Daily Colonist Christmas Tree competition, coming up for the 10th year in succession, is open to all amateur golfers—men and women—who have accredited RCGA or CLGU handicaps.

The entry form will be published in the Daily Colonist Wednesday, Dec. 11, and golfers wanting to participate should waste no time in mailing back their entries with the $5 all-inclusive tournament fee.

In previous years there have always been more applicants for places than could be accepted, and this year is not likely to be any exception.

LIMITED ENTRY Because of the limited hours of daylight the entry will be limited to 120 persons. All entries must be mailed but some places will be reserved for out-of-town golfers whose application forms may take the post office longer to deliver.

Widespread publicity across Canada is every year enticing more golf visitors to Victoria.

France, Banff Final Choices

MONTREAL (CP)—Ken Farmer, chairman of the National Fitness Council, has dismissed the chances of Lake Placid, N.Y., getting the 1968 winter Olympics and said the race has narrowed down to France and Banff.

"I'm dismissing with disdain Lake Placid's attempt," said Farmer, past president of the Canadian Olympic Association. "Banff has got them beat in every department."

France is Banff's only serious contender, he added, and Canada's chances are "about 50-50." Bids by Lake Placid, Japan, Switzerland, Norway and Sweden are destined to be also-rans.

A final decision on the site of the 1968 games will be made in late January at Innsbruck, Austria, scene of the 1964 winter Olympics.

Farmer, told a service club there are no landscape problems at Banff while Lake Placid's skiing facilities don't meet Olympics requirements.

He said the federal government is prepared to provide Banff with $8,000,000 if the Canadian bid is accepted.

Wings Catch Fire
Pound Bruins, 4-2;
Habs Beat Rangers

Detroit Red Wings finally got their big line going last night, and it pounded Boston Bruins deeper into the National Hockey League basement with a 4-2 victory at Detroit to end a seven-game winless streak.

Gordie Howe, who hadn't scored in the seven games since he set an all-time, NHL goal record, fired two goals—his sixth and seventh of the season—last night. So did linemate Alex Delvecchio, scoreless in 10 games, and each drew two assists.

Helping no end was utility forward Johnny McMillan, who was purchased from Toronto this week and immediately placed on the first line with Howe and Delvecchio. MacMillan drew two assists, as did defenceman Doug Barkley.

Terry Sawchuk, back in goal after a week's absence, had to make only 20 stops against Bruins, who have won but one game in their last 10 starts.

Only man to beat him was Murray Oliver, who scored his eighth and ninth goals.

POOR PLANTE Meanwhile, Montreal Canadiens continued to find ex-teammate Jacques Plante a porous, if stubborn, target.

Canadiens regained second place with a 4-2 victory over New York Rangers, stopping Plante and Rangers for the fourth straight time this season.

Red Berenson, Bobby Rousseau, Jean Beliveau and Dave Balon scored for Canadiens, Beliveau getting his first goal in seven games. Only Rangers to score were another pair of ex-Canadiens, Phil Goyette and Don Marshall.

PLANTE made 37 stops compared to 27 for Charlie Hodge and was particularly hard on Ralph Backstrom, beating him on no less than five goal scoring chances.

Canadiens are now nine points behind Chicago Black Hawks and one up on Toronto Maple Leafs. Rangers slipped into fifth place, two points behind the Wings.

Death Report False

Ace Bailey 'Revives' Again

TORONTO (CP) — Many hockey officials and fans could hardly believe their eyes when Ace Bailey appeared at Maple Leaf Gardens to take his regular position as penalty time-keeper Wednesday night.

Just about two hours before game time reports of the former Toronto Maple Leaf star's death were broadcast by radio and television stations.

But Ace had been mistaken for Harold Baile, a 64-year-old city parks employee, who died of a heart attack as he inspected damage to his car following a minor traffic accident.

Harold Baile was known to his fellow workers as Ace—and when some confusion as to identity arose at the hospital, it led to the erroneous report.

Thirty years ago this month the hockey Ace hovered on the brink of death for weeks after being checked by Eddie Shore in a game at Boston, ending his brilliant career. His obituary was written then, too.

NEWS MAIN TOPIC

At Maple Leaf Gardens, the sole topic of conversation was his "passing." There was even talk of observing a period of silence for him before the game between the Leafs and Montreal Canadiens started.

"There were sure some surprised looking people when I walked in," Ace said. "Most people had heard it. A lot of them blinked and shook their heads."

One of the first to encounter

Bailey was Conn Smythe, former president of the Maple Leafs, and now a member of the board of directors, who had stayed at Ace's bedside in Boston during his valiant fight for life in 1933.

"My driver had picked me up to go to the game," said Smythe.

"He told me Bailey had died and it was a big blow. When I saw him alive as we drove into the Gardens, it was a happy moment."

Three Chiefs Carry Load

Victoria's Haida Chiefs are off to a slow start in the Inter-City Basketball League, but they have some consolation. Norris Martin and Darrell Lorimer are scoring better than ever, and rookie Pete Simmonds has become one of the league's outstanding rebounders.

Official statistics show Martin, the defending scoring champion, leads in points scored with 159, and although he is only third in the averages he is hitting at 22.7 points per game compared to a league-leading 18.9 point average last season.

PLAYED MORE

Lorimer, who averaged 15.9 points last year, is now hitting an even 19 points per game, and is second to Martin in total points with 133. However, both Martin and Lorimer have played one more game than Alberni Athletics and two more than Vancouver IGA, North Van Harlems and Vancouver McGavins.

Harlems' Billy-Joe Price and rookie Ian Dixon of IGA lead the averages at 24 points per game, with Martin third and Lorimer fourth. The 6'9" Price has hauled down 90 rebounds, an average of 18 per game.

Simmonds is second in rebounding, taking 66 off the boards for a 12-per-game average.

Chinooks Kill Rinks In Calgary

CALGARY (UPI) — The current unseasonably mild weather in Alberta is fine for most residents but it's bad for outdoor hockey fans and players.

An official of the Calgary Community Recreation Association says the mild winters are threatening to kill the sport.

Another official of the group said there were only 31 days of outdoor hockey last winter. In Edmonton, the spring-like temperatures have also forced closure of outdoor skating rinks.

Pontiacs Sailors Collide

Esquimalt Pontiacs go after their fifth straight victory in the Esquimalt and District Hockey League tonight at 8 p.m. at Esquimalt Sports Centre.

Pontiacs, four points ahead of idle Victoria University Vikings, take on the last-place Navy club, which has managed only one victory in four starts.

Cowboys Beat B.C. With Cash

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Mel Renfro, University of Oregon halfback, said Thursday he probably will sign a contract with Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League.

Renfro, bothered by injuries this season confirmed he talked Wednesday with Dave Skrien, coach of British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League, but said Dallas made a better offer.

Renfro was drafted second by Dallas. Oakland picked him the 10th round of the American Football League draft.

CUTS HAND

Renfro, 22, second draft choice of Dallas of the National Football League, cut his hand on a mirror at his home recently and Lions general manager Herb Capozzi quoted doctors as saying there is always a chance of impairment after nerve injuries. Renfro still wears a cast on the hand.

"In addition to financial problems, the contract provisions requested by Renfro were contrary to club and league policy," Capozzi said.

He would not comment further on this statement.

But he added Lions felt it would be unfair to bring an unproven player into training camp at an "unrealistic" salary.

OUTDOORS

with Alec Merriman

Steelheading time is here, but you have to watch the rains and pick the times to find the rivers in just the right condition. Mostly they have been too high, but cold weather early in the week brought them down a little. Rainy weather now is bringing them up again.

Bucky Kennett reports the steelhead are in the Cowichan. Some have been taken around the Skutz Falls area, but yesterday the river was rising again and was becoming muddy.

Verna Palliser says the river has been too high for good fishing at the top end of the Cowichan, but two steelhead were recorded last week.

Murray Cree reports a steelhead are coming into the Englishman, Big and Little Qualicum Rivers, but the water is still high and colored.

Both Campbell and Quinsam Rivers have produced steelhead.

Conditions have been good in Harris Creek and a few fish have been taken. The gate is expected to be open this weekend and it will be moved back to the old camp. Reason the road has been gated is some junk man got in with a truck and raided the camp when buildings were being dismantled.

Limit steelhead catches are coming from the Stamp and Ash Rivers in the Alberni.

Lots of rain has made Cowichan Lake muddy and the fish have stopped taking the troll, but they are still taking salmon egg paste fished from the shore and around the creek mouths. Trout fishing has been good in Shawinigan and Quamichan Lakes.

Winter springs and big grise are still plentiful in the salt-water fishing areas on the lower island.

Saanich Inlet is the hot spot. Inlet fishing on the weekend was reported pretty hot, went off early in the week and yesterday was reported back on again.

Finlayson Arm, between Hall Boat House and Goldstream Island. Chesterfield Rock and the Narrows has been good for both big grise on bucktail flies and springs up to 14 pounds on plugs and Strip-Tearer. Alf Joyce landed a 15-pounder Sunday at the Narrows on Mac's Squid plug. Charlie Brown got his limit of four springs, heaviest 11.6, on Mac's Squid in Misery Bay. Bill Hosky got a 17-pounder near Goldstream Island on a Mac's Squid. Strip-Tearer off Chesterfield Rock caught three beauties, heaviest 14.2 pounds for Alec Stewart. Art Mawer and party caught 23, heaviest 8.5 pounds, on Strip-Tearer between Goldstream Island the Deep Hole.

White Lady has been the best spot for bucktailing.

Jim Gilbert reported a fresh run of springs Wednesday in the Tod Inlet to Willis Point area. McKenzie Bay has been hot for Jacksprings and best bite has been on the tide change. There are grise pretty well all over the Brentwood end of the Inlet.

Federal fisheries biologists tagged 389 blues on Tuesday. Some winter springs and quite a few grise have been coming from Cowichan Bay waters.

Oak Bay has been good for winter springs around Strong-tide Island, The Gap and Trial Island and there are lots of grise around.

Six to eight ounces of weight has been getting the springs, but some are fishing deep, almost bouncing the bottom.

Victoria waterfront is still good and you only have to watch the commercial trollers to find out where fishing is best.

Pedder Bay went off at the weekend with the north winds, but is still probably the most consistent producer of winter springs in the outside waters. It has been best on the incoming tide with large strip, fished deep.

Not too many have been fishing Beecher Bay and Sooke, but those who have, have been getting good catches of winter springs with change of tide and large strip best combination.

Kelso Horse of Year Again No Surprise to Turfdom

CLEAN SWEEP

Kelso also was the chosen horse of the year in a poll conducted by Turf and Sports Digest, completing his sweep of the balloting.

The swift-running gelding, who needs only $168,167 to pass Round Table as the world's leading money winning horse, began his reign as a three-year-old in 1969. He was the unanimous choice of the TRA board of selection this year.

His earnings of $369,762 this season brought his lifetime bankroll to $1,581,702 for 34 victories in 45 starts.

FOURTH ONCE

Kelso's only out-of-the-money performance this year was in his debut in the seven-furlong Palm Beach Handicap at Hialeah Park, when he was fourth back of Ridan, Jaipur and Merry Ruler.

He went on to win nine races, carrying as much as 134 pounds under handicap conditions. At one stage he put together a string of eight straight stakes victories, including an unprecedented fourth straight victory in the two miles of the Jockey Club Gold Cup.

Mrs. duPont's big disappointment in her famous gelding came last month in the Washington, D.C., International at Laurel, where he finished second to Mongo. It was his third straight runner-up finish in the race.

He was honored last night at the TRA's annual dinner, along with other divisional champions. They are Amber Diver, steeplechase; Hurry to Market, two-year-old colt; Castle Forbes, two-year-old filly; Chateaugay, three-year-old colt; Lamb Chop, three-year-old filly, and Cicada, four-year-old filly.

THE Arnold PALMER METHOD

KEEP RIGHT ELBOW CLOSE TO BODY

There was a time when golf professionals would roll up a hand towel and place it under the upper part of their pupils' right arm. The student golfer was then told to swing without letting the towel drop.

This attempt to keep the "right" right elbow on the backswing is less prominent in today's teaching methods.

Today the stress is put on making certain that the player's elbow returns to his side early on the downswing (#1 and #2 as opposed to #3).

The tight elbow position on the downswing prevents (a) premature straightening of the right arm which would dissipate clubhead speed, (b) heeled shots that would result if the clubhead were allowed to move out beyond the ball.

Your step-by-step guide to perfect swing! Send 10¢ and a stamped, return envelope to Arnold Palmer, c/o this newspaper.

Junior Coach Refuses Offer To Handle U.S. College Team

EDMONTON (CP)—Canada's most successful junior football coach has turned down an offer from a United States university so that he can coach Canadian university teams.

Dennis Kadatz, who spent more than half his 25 years on a farm, has coached Edmonton Huskies to two consecutive national junior football titles.

Now attending University of Alberta after teaching high school in Edmonton for two years, he turned down a coaching scholarship offer from Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah.

"I received a $9,000 scholarship from the National Fitness Council of Canada, so decided to take my master's degree at the University of Alberta," he explained.

Working toward a master's degree in physical education, Kadatz wants to coach in Canada at the university level. "I think junior football is on a par with university football," he said. "I enjoy teaching that age group."

Kadatz played high school football in Edmonton, junior football with the Huskies, and varsity football with the University of Edmonton Golden Bears. He played every position, but was best known as an end.

He was born on a farm 15 miles southeast of Edmonton and lived there until he was 14. Golden Gables for the national intercollegiate title.

Kadatz was only 24 when his team won its first national final, but this wasn't a record. Paul Dojack, veteran Western Conference referee, was only 21 when he coached Regina Dales to a national junior title in 1938.

Nor was Kadatz's national title the first for Edmonton in 1938. Just two days earlier University of Alberta beat Queen's to a national junior title in 1938.

Our gin can't help losing its head when it comes to this old guillotine

This curious box of brass and glass makes our gin taste even better. By cutting off its "heads" and "tails."

These are the terms distillers use for the first and last flows of gin from the still.

The "heads" that run first tend to be a bit heavy; the "tails" at the end are too light. So we cut them both off in this box—and out of Sterling Gin.

What you get is the dry, well-rounded "middle run."

Now glance again at the box in the picture. It's part of one of our 100-year-old Pot Stills. We brought these time-seasoned stills from England in the 1920's—to make gin from Sir Robert Burnett's famous old English formula.

Being miniatures by modern standards, these stills let us make it the old-world way. In small, unhurried batches.

If we switched to modern, mass-producing stills, we know we'd save time and money.

But our gin wouldn't taste the same.

BISHOP CODY

Most Rev. John Christopher Cody, bishop of London, Ont., and a former bishop of Victoria, died yesterday in the Ontario centre. He was 63.

London hospital officials said his death was due to high blood pressure or a heart attack. He was taken to hospital Wednesday after being taken ill on a visit to a seminary.

YOUNGEST BISHOP HERE

When he was made bishop of Victoria in 1937, he was 37 years old—the youngest bishop in Canada and one of the youngest members of the Roman Catholic Church hierarchy.

The Victoria diocese includes all Vancouver Island and adjacent islands.

Bishop Cody served here until 1946, when he became coadjutor bishop of London.

WON AWARD

A native of Ottawa, last year Bishop Cody won the human relations award from the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews for service to the cause of friendship between people of different creeds.

In February, 1962, the Vatican named him bishop-assistant to the pontifical throne, a position which placed him close to the papal throne in Rome during pontifical ceremonies.

Special mass will be said at St. Andrew's Cathedral here, Tuesday, the day of the funeral.

Blast Kills 26 Miners In Hungary

BUDAPEST (AP)—Twenty-six Hungarian miners were killed in an explosion Wednesday night at a coal mine at Tatabanya, the Hungarian news agency MTI reported yesterday.

Four other miners were injured.

The agency said the blast was a dampfire explosion.

Tatabanya is a mining centre 30 miles west of Budapest.

MTI said an investigation had been opened and that Premier Janos Kadar had sent telegrams of condolence to the families of the victims.

In one of Hungary's worst mine disasters, 31 coal miners burned to death or suffocated in a fire at the Szueszt pit in northeast Hungary Nov. 25, 1959.

Keenleyside Home Ransacked

Thieves ransacked the home of Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, co-chairman of B.C. Hydrus, overnight Wednesday, but apparently nothing was taken.

Mrs. Keenleyside said last night four bedrooms had been ransacked, and a small amount of damage done, but the thieves apparently gave up when they were unable to find any money.

They gained entrance to the house at 3178 Mayfair by throwing a rock through a large plate glass window.

Rush-Hour Mishaps Injure Two

Two people were injured in rush-hour accidents within minutes of each other on Victoria's slippery streets Wednesday.

Pedestrian Kathy Weatherby, 1617 Belmont, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital for observation after colliding with a car at Yates and Vancouver, which was driven by Frank S. Caldwell, 1791 Feltham. She was in satisfactory condition in St. Joseph's Hospital last night.

IN COLLISION

Grant Beardshaw, 13, of 3103 Harriet Road, was treated and released from St. Joseph's Hospital after cars that were driven by Imre Barkley, 1075 Davie and Winifred Beardshaw, 3103 Harriet collided at Pandora and Blanchard.

Israeli Consul:

Pope's Visit Will Ease Jew-Christian Rift

By JUDITH BAINES

David Rivlin, consul general of Israel, said yesterday that the announcement of Pope Paul's visit to Israel is indicative of a new era of understanding between Jews and Christians.

He told University of Victoria students that "the Pope will be received with enthusiasm." It will be the first time a pope has visited Israel since St. Peter left there to establish the Roman Catholic church at Rome.

LIBERAL SPIRIT

Pope Paul, he said, is continuing the "great liberal spirit" shown by Pope John when he proposed the elimination from Roman Catholic prayers passages which are "insulting and harmful to the Jews."

Mr. Rivlin hopes the stigma attached to Jews as "killers of God" will be removed through greater understanding of Jewish beliefs and practices, the misunderstanding of which has led to bigotry and persecution.

PEACEFUL RELATIONS

He said he hopes the Pope will be impressed with the Jews' reconstruction of Israel and their desire for peaceful economic and social relations with the rest of the world, and will direct his influence toward the establishment of peace between Israel and the surrounding Arab countries.

"Dialogue" between Jews and Christians since the exile of Jews from Israel 2,000 years ago has been impossible, he feels, because Christians have not recognized Judaism as a religion on an equal basis with Christianity.

CULTURAL LIFE

"We sincerely believe that in this generation, when we have returned to our land, restored its spiritual and cultural life and its historical values, that the dialogue may resume," he said.

He attributed "the unfortunate

HISTORIC END

The establishment of Israel as a physical and political entity is a "means to a greater historic end," the maintenance of the "eternal triangle" linking the teachings of Judaism, the people, and the land (Israel), which will result in "the redemption of the Jewish people."

A student asked Mr. Rivlin if invasion of Arab territory, considered part of the Promised Land, could be justified.

He replied that his people "do not anticipate any further expansion. We just want peace within our present boundaries."

ONE THIRD

Israel, which is one-third the size of Vancouver Island, now has 2,500,000 people and could accommodate four or five million more, he said.

Indebted to Canada and the United States for financial and moral support, Israel is repaying them by remaining the "bastion of democracy" in the Middle East.

to spend 25 to 30 hours a week on the Martlet, his studies have been "woefully neglected," Mr. Bigsby said.

FILLED VACANCY

Managing editor of the Martlet last year, he had accepted the job as editor-in-chief only because there was no one else with sufficient experience. Last year's editor-in-chief and news editor both decided unexpectedly not to return to university.

Mrs. Barr agreed that "it is impossible to do proper justice to both academic and extra-curricular activities."

In giving the Martlet stability and training its staff, Mr. Bigsby had "done an excellent job under trying conditions," she said.

One day while we were contemplating a number of our Wiser's whiskies, in different bottles, each with brilliantly individualistic labels, we were struck by the absurdity of the whole thing. We are not really selling bottles, or labels... just good Wiser's Canadian whisky. So we decided to select just one good bottle and try it for most of our different brands. We chose our squarish bottle... attractive, popular, easy to handle, easy to use. The whisky, as always with Wiser's, is older than other whiskies on the board in virtually every price class. Thus if a mellow age-in-wood interests you, you will find Wiser's offers just about the best values in whisky today.

Papal Visit Stirs Mid-East Rumbles

Aid Asked for Oil Hunt

VATICAN CITY. (Reuters)— Worried Roman Catholic Church officials looked to the Middle East Thursday night for signs of a political storm as they claimed a lid of secrecy on details of Pope Paul's planned pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

Signs of discord were noted in certain sections of the Middle East press where writers urged the Pope's visit to be used to help recover the Arab position in parts of Palestine now belonging to Israel.

Vatican sources were quick to emphasize the pilgrimage, the first by a head of the Roman Catholic Church in 2,000 years, will be essentially non-political.

Foreign observers said, however, the Pope might have to face a decision to call off the dog if it were dragged into the powder keg of Middle East politics.

Attention here also was focused on Istanbul, Turkey, seat of the leading figure in the Orthodox Church divided from Rome since 1054.

Speculation was rife in the Italian press that the pilgrimage would give the Pope an opportunity to meet the ecumenical Patriarch Athenagoras in the Holy Land.

The newspapers said such a meeting could be interpreted as a concrete gesture towards healing the split between the churches.

It was judged in the Vatican that first reactions from Arab political leaders to the trip have been statesman-like.

Welcoming statements were received from Jordanian Premier Sherif Hussein Ben Nasir and Lebanese Foreign Minister Philippe Tekla.

Vatican sources pointed out the Pope made it clear in his address, closing the second session of the ecumenical council Wednesday, that he will be going in prayer and penitence, to help the aim of Christian unity.

The sources said the trip was no more political in its intention than the draft document laid before the ecumenical council on Roman Catholics' reconciliatory attitude toward Jews.

They said the document, debated hotly last month, had not aroused an outcry among Arab governments.

By STEWART MacLEOD

OTTAWA (CP) — Unless exploration is stepped up, Canada may some day run short of producing oil wells, the royal commission on taxation heard Thursday.

While there is no shortage of supply today, said the Independent Petroleum Association of Canada, there is a downward trend in exploration and "if this trend is continued we will eventually reach the point of insufficient current supply."

Additional financial incentives are needed, said the association. The association asked revision of depletion allowances.

The present allowance works out at 33-1-3 per cent of net profits, and the association said this should be changed to 25 per cent of gross producing revenue so the figure would not be reduced by exploration and development costs.

The association said the proposed new system of depletion allowances would improve company earnings, and thereby attract new capital.

Murdered Girl Herself Sent Threat Notes

HOLLYWOOD (AP).—Police print of Miss Kupcinec's right middle finger. They theorize she may have stuck the notes on her own door and Prime's in an attempt to gain his sympathy. Detectives said Prime broke up with the actress about three weeks before she was strangled to death early Thursday morning in her Hollywood apartment. The nude body of the 23-year-old actress was found Saturday.

Signed Pact Martin Hope

OTTAWA (UPI).—External Affairs Minister Martin Thursday expressed hope that Canadian-American negotiations on the Columbia River treaty will be completed this month. He hinted that the final outstanding issue—the price for disposal of Canada's downstream power benefits—might be settled here next Monday and Tuesday.

UNDERSTANDING OF TAPE

Edsel said Miss Kupcinec's fingerprint was found on the underside of some telephone tape used to stick words clipped from the magazines into a threatening message. He added that several magazines in Miss Kupcinec's apartment had words clipped out. The disclosure apparently destroyed the value of the notes as a clue to the killing of the young woman, daughter of Chicago columnist Irv Kupcinec.

Hospital the Place to 'Dry Out'

But There's Opposition to Alcoholics, Says Foundation Chief

By HARVEY SHEPHERD
Third of a Series

The place for an alcoholic who urgently needs "drying out" after an alcoholic bender is in the wards of a general hospital, says the man who probably knows as much about alcoholism as anybody in B.C.

That is one of the reasons, says Edward McRae of Vancouver, executive director of the Alcoholism Foundation for B.C., why centres in Vancouver with beds for the drying out of alcoholics have been closed in recent years both by the foundation and by a group of individuals belonging to Alcoholics Anonymous.

The foundation now has arrangements in Vancouver with a general hospital and a private hospital.

Opposition

He says he does not think the situation in Victoria regarding hospital beds for alcoholics is particularly bad. But he says you will get an argument on this from some Victorians, especially some members of the medical profession. And you will indeed.

A general practitioner told me about one evening largely spent in a vain attempt to get an alcoholic patient into the wards of a hospital.

Beds Needed

A psychiatrist said there is definitely a need for and lack of further bed facilities for alcoholics in Victoria. He said many alcoholics are still winding up after benders in city jail, which is hardly the place for them, even though city police are most conscientious about getting needed medical care.

An individual member of Alcoholics Anonymous also felt there is a need in Victoria for further bed facilities for alcoholics.

The attitude of the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service toward hospital care for alcoholics is also a source of some confusion.

After being told by two persons that BCHIS does not pay for treatment of alcoholics as such, and receiving other reports from other people, I got a statement from BCHIS.

BCHIS Ruling

Dr. W. A. Fraser, medical consultant to the service, said: "BCHIS pays for hospital care when an alcoholic is so acutely ill that the emergency treatment services of a general hospital are required."

At any rate, there is definitely a feeling in some quarters that an alcoholic's chances for hospital care aren't hurt any if he can manage to break a leg as well, or at least get registered as a patient with liver trouble or some other specific physical complaint.

Some hospitals, Mr. McRae said, are BCHIS notwithstanding, reluctant to admit alcoholics and some doctors are reluctant to ask, as is legally necessary for BCHIS payment, that alcoholic patients be admitted to or kept in hospital. He feels that alcoholic patients

B.C. Welfare Minister Wesley Black, Victoria welfare administrator William Hooson, Vancouver Island Alcoholism Foundation president James Audain and B.C. Works Minister W. N. Chant. —(Bud Kinsman)

Centre Has Heavy Backlog

A government-operated alcoholism centre which opened officially in Victoria yesterday already has a heavy backlog of alcoholics seeking counselling.

B.C.'s first branch office of the Vancouver-based Alcoholism Foundation of B.C. was officially opened in Victoria yesterday by provincial Welfare Minister Wesley Black.

HEAVY BACKLOG

The man in charge of the foundation's small new headquarters on Meares Street, Rev. L. M. McFerran, said in an interview the centre already has a heavy backlog of cases. The branch has been operating informally for about a month.

The Victoria branch plans not only to offer a counselling service for alcoholics, but also to study the alcoholism situation in the Victoria area and to educate the public about alcoholism.

In his talk opening the centre, Mr. Black said he is sure that in considering next year's provincial budget the government will be more liberal towards the foundation than it has been in the past.

The government last year granted $135,000 to the provincial foundation.

Mr. Black also called for federal and municipal governments to assume a share of the cost of dealing with alcoholism. Mr. Black termed the opening of the Victoria branch "a small but important step forward."

George Derby of Vancouver, president of the foundation's board of directors, said establishment of the Victoria branch does not mean that the alcoholism situation is any worse in Victoria than in many other parts of the province.

DOCTOR ASSIGNED

He said the Victoria Medical Association has assigned Dr. J. M. Dickout to provide medical services for the new centre.

City welfare administrator William Hooson, appearing on behalf of Victoria Mayor R. B. Wilson, said the modern approach to dealing with alcoholics is individual and by group counselling and this also is the basis of the B.C. foundation's work.

Exemptions for Canada

Kennedy Tax Closer

WASHINGTON (UPI).—The House Ways and Means Committee Thursday approved the late President Kennedy's proposed tax on foreign securities and broadened Canada's exemption to include most outstanding securities traded in the United States as well as new issues.

Canada had won an exemption covering new issues of stocks and bonds last summer after a high-level team of Canadian negotiators convinced U.S. officials that the tax—proposed as a means of curbing the U.S. balance of payments outflow—could ruin the Canadian economy.

The House committee broadened the exemption to cover securities of any foreign firms which are 50 per cent U.S.-owned and whose stock is mostly traded on U.S. exchanges. This would exempt all but a few of the outstanding Canadian securities traded in the United States.

The Canadian government had sought a full exemption. Thursday's action was merely the first step in a long legislative process that could add up to months before the tax finally is approved or rejected by Congress. But the action probably would win at least a bittersweet welcome in Canadian circles.

The mere proposal of the tax on July 18—even with the Canadian exemption—had effectively dried up U.S. capital markets as far as Canadian borrowers were concerned. Reason for this was that no potential investors could be sure that Canadian stocks and bonds would be exempted by Congress, or the terms of any such exemption.

The bill approved by the House Ways and Means Committee at least now gives some indication of the form the so-called "interest equalization tax" might take.

Garden Notes

Feed Those Daffs!

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRES

A month or so ago, at bulb-planting time, I was banging my big drum on behalf of the daffodil as an ideal flower for the reluctant or lazy gardener. However, while daffs, probably better than any other flower, can be left to look after themselves with every prospect of a successful spring display, those of us who have their welfare at heart can still give them an assist in the form of a few special attentions.

This extra care may not show up as bigger and better flowers this coming spring, but we must remember the daffodil is not a flower of a single year. Generous treatment now will help the bulbs fatten up and ripen off properly, and in due course they will increase in size and number.

The fertilizer most appreciated by all members of the narcissus family is phosphate, and the ideal form for bulbs is bone meal, a safe, slow-acting, long-lasting form of phosphate which stimulates good root action and makes for substantial, weatherproof flowers and strong stems. Bone meal contains a little nitrogen — just about the right amount for daffs — and no further chemical nitrogen is necessary or desirable.

Bone meal is organic in origin and, because it yields up its nutrients so slowly and gradually, it is almost impossible to give an overdose. For bulbs, I prefer the coarse-ground bone meal to the finer, powdery bone flower.

Potash is important in the diet of daffs and other bulbs and, although its role in plant nutrition is not fully understood, it appears to convey considerable resistance to disease in bulbs. Wood ashes from the fireplace, incinerator or garden bonfires provide useful amounts of potash and in a form especially relished by bulbs.

Commercial growers will usually feed their daffs and tulips with chemical sulphate of potash, chiefly because it is much easier to come by than wood ashes in quantity. But while results from this chemical are excellent in every way, I hesitate to recommend it for amateur home use as the dosage is much more critical and there is always some danger the fertilizer you buy will contain muriate of potash rather than the sulphate form. The muriate kind is bad medicine for bulbs, roses and potatoes.

Daffs, narcissi and tulips revel in a loose, friable topsoil, so it is a good idea to get busy with the Dutch hoe as soon as the leaf tips show above ground. Scuffle off the weeds first, then scatter bone meal at the rate of 1½ cups per square yard, add two cups wood ashes and stir the two gently into the top two inches of soil with the hoe or handfork.

One application of bone meal and wood ashes will do for the whole season, but the stirring of the topsoil should continue at intervals throughout the year, especially after rain has caked the surface.

Watch yourself in late winter, for, when the growing tips are just under the soil surface, you can do a lot of damage with a carelessly wielded hoe blade.

As each flower finishes, the spent bloom should be picked before it can set seed, but the full length of the stem and all the leaves must be allowed to die down naturally and in their own good time. The green parts are the organs which plump up the bulbs for next year's flowers and any premature tidying up will weaken the bulbs.

It is good practice after the blooms have finished, to pull a little earth up around each plant with the draw hoe, just as you would "earth up" potatoes. This extra support prevents the leaves from breaking off prematurely and the additional thickness of earth over the bulbs discourages the narcissus fly, the pest responsible for maggoty bulbs.

JOHN CROSBY Report Weatherwise

Cheer in Face of Adversity

LONDON — England has issued its first long-range weather forecast: "Cold spells likely to be severe with freezing fog."

You must understand that English weather is generally pretty awful and weather reporting here is the great art of putting the best face on a bad situation. You assume the worst in weather forecasting here, so all surprises are agreeable ones.

This brings a remarkably cheerful prose style to generally dismal news. "Scotland will be mainly cloudy with a few sporadic outbreaks of sunshine." An "outbreak of sunshine." Only the English would put it quite like that.

"Much of Scotland may be dry today," the man says cheerfully on the radio.

The amount of cheer the English can extract from small favors is miraculous. They underplay beautifully. "Golfers may find the wind a bit awkward," a weather girl said cheerfully. There was a small typhoon raging outside that would blow a golfer clear into the rough. Awkward.

"With the wind howling around your chimney pots, it's no use telling you it'll be windy today," said another weather man with great cheerfulness.

"There will be a lot of cloud about, but in most places it will be thin, enough to show you at least where the sun is." You can't see the sun, but you know there is one and that's something. Count your blessings.

"I don't know how this cheerfulness in the face of adversity can be extended into long-range forecasts, but I'm sure they'll try." "Rain through July and August but there'll be bright intervals in 1965." "Winds could ease down a little in late 1960."

Actually the British are very nervous about this long-range weather forecasting. What will it do to English conversation? "Can English conversation be expected to survive without its staple topic?" asks the Daily Mail gloomily. "Will stranger ever speak unto stranger again?"

There's another aspect. Weather, it is said, has done much toward molding the national character. That stiff upper lip you hear so much about. Couldn't develop a stiff upper lip if the sun shone all the time. It doesn't shine at all, but the English, up to now, have always had the possibility that it might shine tomorrow.

"To be told categorically that there is to be no let-up or bright interval for a month ahead might quite possibly crack even the strongest spirit," said the Daily Mail. "Fortunately there is very little danger that we shall."

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Tough Being Has-Been

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Rita Hayworth is an absolute angel on the set of Circus World in Madrid—until 4 p.m. After that she would just as soon lead her own life in her own way. She is obviously unhappy about something, and it is not the fact that she is playing the mother of Claudia Cardinale. She was glad to get the part. It must be tough to have been the great star that Rita was, and now the roles are few and far between.

As I may have told you, producer Henry Weinstein would like Hayley Mills to co-star with Dick Chamberlain in his Joy in the Morning movie but MGM is insisting on Yvette Mimieux who is, let's face it, nearer Dick's age. They are preparing for the teaming by putting Yvette in a two-part Dr. Kildare with the popular Richard. And you will be hearing of a so-called romance between them.

After assuring me that he would never consider living in Hollywood for very long, Robert Giamatti bought the Eddie Fisher house he was renting with wife Carol Law-ence. "We are still not planning to make California our home," Robert relays. "But I have to be in Hollywood for three pictures. It's cheaper to buy a house now, and sell when we leave." That will depend on the market. Houses in Beverly Hills, Bel Air, etc., are very expensive now, and by the time they put in all the improvements that everyone seems to put in, it might be hard for Bob and Carol to get their money back.

George Montgomery who prefers New York because girls don't shoot at him there, spent a week there, mostly ringsiding at the Blue Angel, and 19-year-old singer Mara Lynn Brown, a Dinah Shore look-alike, could have been the reason.

Frank Sinatra will soon be known as the voice in the background. "The Frank who is singing while the American soldier is executed in The Victrola. And 'I'll be Frank again in the background for The Girl Who Stole the Eiffel Tower."

CHARLES McDOWELL Monitors Junior TV

No Adult Can Withstand This Stuff

Television on Saturday morning is not for the easily unsettled. Children, we hope, are tough enough to take it, but impressionable adults should stay away.

The Christmas season has struck. On Saturday morning television the Christmas season takes the form of the most shattering commercials of the year—the shrill voices of juvenile pitchmen, the firing of mighty guns, the whine of projectiles, the rumble of marauding tanks and monsters, the babbling and giggling of dolls gone out of their little heads.

With it all, there are the programs themselves. At best, they offer limited rest periods.

For some reason now forgotten, we sat down recently to watch an hour or two of Saturday morning television and make notes on what we endured. The notes, written in a progressively shakier hand, are neither coherent nor constructive, but we shall pass them along for what they are worth.

Switch on set to find several commercial children playing "the detector" game recommended for Christmas. Friendly smiles as they search for Mr. Switch to another channel—Chatty Baby says 18 things, would like to have stroller, playtable, car seat.

Brief visions of Rin Tin Tin, cartoons — frantic channel-switching going on now — and then close-up view of chocolate syrup pouring like a waterfall over a mountain of nuts.

Age across the desert. Roy Rogers riding across the desert. Stripes, the Magic Toothpaste—Stripes goes on who looks like Rin Tin Tin. A working when your toothbrush stays/Get some Stripes when your mother shops!"

Battlewagon, a huge fighting ship that runs on dry land, interrupts Roy Rogers. Battlewagon, toy of the year, fires rockets, guns, launches planes. Tremendous racket. Batteries not included.

A little boy named Joey on some program lets a valuable wild horse out of the corral. Much consternation. Roy Rogers, masquerading, joins some bank robbery. Charming! Chatty says 120 different things—"she's the absolute, most, cutest."

Roy fights bank robbers. Wild horse recaptured. Charming! Chatty rattles on and on and on. Tiger Joe, a tank, cousin to Battlewagon, fires mighty guns. Batteries not included.

Bank robbers subdued by Roy. Immediately, on another channel, several children all up on Sugar Crip and thwart another bank robbery. Charming! Chatty says something about going to sleep—she's the absolute, most, cutest.

Bugs Bunny appears from somewhere. Battlewagon and Tiger Joe fire broadsides. Sky King chases a wild horse—the same one Joey was chasing—pleasantly. She wants some new clothes.

Tiger Joe looms another broadside, we switch channels, and Charming! Chatty is filibustering. Absolute, most, cutest. Another doll appears — Tickles — "when you tickle her, she laughs; when you spank her, she cries." We give up and flee. Tickles' hysterical laughter follows us as we run away into the desert.

Pity Poor Father He Has Everything

By STANTON DELAPLANE

The coffee table runneth over with Christmas catalogues these excellent days.

They are aimed at The Man Who Has Everything. (For The Man Who Has Nothing—nothing. Let him eat fruit cake.) Here is Neiman-Marcus of Texas. The catalogue is four-color separation. On coated book stock worth a king's ransom. It features a video tape television recorded by Ampex. The doll who models in front of this gleaming electronic wonder wears a hostess gown by Sarni. The gown goes for $885. That gives you an idea.

The catalogue also offers a His and Hers submarine. "The ultimate in togetherness," says the book. And that is an ever-loving fact.

It costs only $18,700. Get together, folks.

Fortunately I am a Man Who Has Everything. I know this because my wife and children say so.

I might add that my family, from small to large, has nothing. Absolutely in dire want. They see thousands of things they need in the glowing catalogues.

The fact that these cupcake have a holiday yen for garments that would buy me a lot of everything has nothing to do with it.

"Because these things are useful!" Some of the useful things needed are a cozy sports car coat—the children have no sports cars, but we must have a sports car coat or die—and a brocade evening jacket at $60, oh, oh.

I suspect I am going to get a pipe rack for Christmas. I have everything but that—reason one being I do not smoke pipes.

However, the price is $1.68. My offspring are like gamblers: If the price is right, they go.

Ah, me. What will we find under the tree? There was some talk of getting me a zebra-skin wallet. But the price was $9.95. So that was out.

When people are looking for something for a Man Who Has Everything, they mean everything that costs $1.65.

Verdict Due Today In Thompson Trial

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — After deliberating five hours, jurors in the T. Eugene Thompson murder trial were taken Thursday night to a hotel to stay overnight.

The panel of six women and six men will resume deliberations at 9 a.m. today.

The 36-year-old lawyer is charged with planning and paying for the slaying of his 34-year-old wife, Carol, last March 6. Trial began Oct. 28.

In a 30-minute charge, Judge Ruff Fawcett told the jurors they could return a verdict of either guilty or innocent.

He told the jurors they should not be influenced by pity or personal regard or bias, but that the state was required to prove its case beyond a reasonable doubt.

BOND DISCHARGED

After the jury retired, on motion of prosecutor William Randall, Thompson's $100,000 bond was discharged and he was taken into custody. Thompson's lawyer, Hyam Segell, argued in vain that his client should continue free on bond until the jury returns its verdict.

Conviction of first-degree murder carries a mandatory life prison term in Minnesota. Under state law, convicted offenders must serve at least 25 years of such terms, which can be reduced to 17 years with time off for good behavior and subsequent parole.

In his final argument, Mr. Randall pictured Thompson as a man who posed as a respectable churchgoer while he carried on "a sordid back street life."

Green Christmas

It looks like a green Christmas for Canada's ever-green playground, according to the long-range outlook of the U.S. Weather Office, which predicts above-normal temperatures and moderate precipitation for most of B.C. during December.

Slain Officer's Family May Get $200,000

DALLAS (AP) — Lieut. V. K. Hipkind of Dallas police estimated Thursday that funds for the family of J. D. Tippit, slain Dallas policeman, will exceed $200,000.

Tippit was shot to death Nov. 22 while trying to arrest Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy.

Red China

'Paper Tiger' Air Force Facing Fuel Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist China's air force is reported to be caught in an aircraft fuel shortage arising out of the split with the Soviet Union — so serious as to be causing drastic curtailment of operations.

A highly-based military officer who has returned from several years duty in the Far East used the term "paper tiger" when asked the current status of the Communist Chinese air force.

Red warplanes are now seen only rarely in coastal waters of the mainland, this officer said.

Grain Crop Disastrous

MOSCOW (Reuters) — A disastrously low grain crop in the "virgin lands" in the Kazakhstan district were underlined Thursday by figures issued by the local Communist party secretary.

The figures showed a harvest of only 5,000,000 tons — less than the area needs for itself in an average year.

Harvests in the territory have fallen steadily since 1958.

Neither Assaulted

Twins Died of Stabbing

VERNON (CP) — A pathologist testified Thursday that 15-year-old twins Diana and Donna Ring died last October of stab wounds but neither was sexually assaulted.

Dr. D. F. Morrow of Kelowna was testifying at the preliminary hearing of Lawrence Herman Haase, 25, a Kelowna garage mechanic who had been charged specifically with capital murder in connection with the death of Diana.

The hearing, which opened Thursday, heard evidence in connection with both deaths.

Dr. Morrow said Diana died instantly of a massive stab wound that penetrated through her chest and into her heart. She also had several head lacerations.

He said Donna suffered multiple stab wounds to the chest, a fractured jaw and scalp lacerations which could have been caused by a blunt instrument. He said Donna's death resulted when her lungs collapsed because of the stab wounds. He said she died within 30 minutes.

Earlier, William Treadgold, Kelowna sporting goods merchant, said Haase had purchased a .22-calibre rifle and shells at his store in September, 1962.

RCMP Corporal Kenneth Brand told of organizing a search for the girls, reported missing from their Mabel Lake home 23 miles from Enderby, Oct. 7. He said the bodies were found at 2 a.m. Oct. 8.

Researcher Rebuts LaMarsh Attack

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Murray Hunt, heading research in current University of Toronto dentistry faculty experiments on analyzing strontium-90 content in children's teeth, yesterday defended the study against an attack by Health Minister Judy LaMarsh.

Speaking in Edmonton this week, Miss LaMarsh questioned the usefulness of the experiments and criticized university methods of obtaining teeth without classifying them.

Dr. Hunt said: "All teeth are classified according to the place and year of birth of the child, residence of mother during pregnancy and the number of months on bottle and breast feeding."

He termed Miss LaMarsh's statements "misleading" and said it was "unfortunate she had not taken the trouble to investigate the study before voicing an opinion."

THE DIFFERENCE IN SWEET VERMOUTHS

Most brands of sweet vermouth are slightly heavier than Martini & Rossi. They smell stronger... taste stronger, and look a little darker in the glass. Some people prefer them.

Martini & Rossi is a lighter vermouth. It is famous for its light, yet lively taste. Because of this, it is more subtle in cocktails... more refreshing on the rocks. Many people prefer it.

At Secret

Folk Singers Make Debut

Victoria's only folk singing group will make its professional debut at the Secret Coffee House Friday and Saturday.

The Chariot Singers, after many months of practice and experimentation, are ready for the required three shows at the Secret.

This group wasn't always known as The Chariot Singers. Formerly they were the Minstrelmen, until they made a

Senators, MPs

Federalist Parley Set for Ottawa

National president of the World Federalists, Prof. C. S. Burchill, of Royal Roads, will meet senators and members of Parliament who are joining the Canadian World Federalist Parliamentary Council in Ottawa next week.

The movement will involve between 30 and 50 MPs and senators. Purpose of the parliamentary association will be to work for world order and peace through the establishment of enforceable world law and of institutions to enforce the law.

Tank Cleaning Suggestion Wins Award

A suggestion for more efficient cleaning of ships' fuel tanks has won an award for H. R. Chalmers, 604 Cornwall.

Mr. Chalmers, a cleaner and scaler at HMC Dockyard, won the cash award from the suggestion award board of the Public Service of Canada.

He has been employed at HMC Dockyard since 1952.

Willows

Extension At School Approved

Department of education approval for a four-room extension to Willows School has been received by school trustees of Greater Victoria School District 61 and the architects have been asked for sketch plans.

The school will be built under referendum No. 5 and will bring the number of rooms to 24.

MOVE STARTS

Today, furniture and equipment will be moved into the six-room addition at Monterey which has been turned over to the board.

Monday students will move into the classrooms to end the shift system at Monterey. More than 500 pupils are registered at the school.

ONE ON SHIFT

Only one school, Craigflower, remains on the shift system in District 61, and here a new 12-room addition is due for completion early in 1964.

Monday, trustees discussed the 115 new elementary rooms proposed in Referendum No.

480 British Africa-Bound

LIVERPOOL, England (AP)—More than 300 adult British migrants and 180 children sailed for South Africa Wednesday night aboard the 25,500-ton liner Empress of Britain. It was the largest group ever to migrate from Britain to South Africa.

Mayor Looks Ahead

Wilson by Acclamation

By IAN STREET

Mayor R. B. Wilson was re-elected to his second term by acclamation yesterday and promised that during the next two years positive action will be taken to meet long-term planning needs of Victoria.

Two projects of the "utmost importance" to the entire community — completion of a metro traffic study and updating of the 1958 Capital Region Plan — will require action before the end of 1963.

"I am hopeful that there will be continuing co-operation between all areas of government to achieve desirable development of this very choice part of the world, lower Vancouver Island," the mayor said.

The city's attitude towards amalgamation remains as it was two years ago when he first took office, Mayor Wilson said.

"We are still prepared to dis-towards better government in this broad area. But progress here depends to a great degree on the wishes of the surrounding municipalities," he said.

Mayor Wilson, who left town yesterday for a weekend vacation, said he was "extremely gratified" to be returned for another two year term.

"There are several major projects, including Centennial Square, to be carried forward and many unresolved problems to which city council must turn its attention in the near future," he said.

In next Thursday's civic elections seven candidates will compete for four city council seats and four candidates will contest two vacant seats on Greater Victoria school board. Voting will be held between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. Dec. 12 in the Victoria Ballroom, Courthouse and Government.

Although lack of a mayoralty election is bound to affect the turnout, ratepayers will also be voting on an important $375,000 money bylaw for renovation of the police station and construction of a new magistrate's court.

When nominations closed at 2 p.m. yesterday candidates for council seats were: Incumbents Geoffrey Edgelow, J. L. W. McLean, M. H. Mooney and Lily Wilson; newcomers Mrs. H. L. MacKenzie, Robert Baird and Victor Williams, both of whom have made previous unsuccessful bids for election.

For school trustee, late-comers to the election scene, Leslie Spencer, a medical photographer, and Edward John Wood, business proprietor, will compete for the two seats with incumbent John Porteous and former trustee Ralph Fryer.

Island Tug Claims Double Record

Island Tug and Barge Ltd. yesterday claimed a double record for tonnage and distance in a deep-sea cargo movement.

The barge Island Exporter arrived in North Vancouver with 1,100 tons of industrial salts. She had travelled more than 1,600 miles since loading the cargo.

The barge, towed by the Sudbury II, was loaded 10 days ago at Black Warrior Lagoon, Mexico.

Naval Reserve

Challenge Offered —For $1.87 Week

Victoria's naval reserve division, HMCS Malahat, headquartered in that colorful square building down on Wharf Street, absorbed another blow to its career yesterday when it was announced from Ottawa that the ship was to be paid off by March 31.

The division was disbanded in an economy move by the department of national defence. You might wonder just how much it takes to run such an establishment.

Well, for $1.87 a week you get the services of a recruit, who volunteered for the job for a three-year hitch.

BASIC KIT

The government lends him a uniform and a basic kit (officers buy their own). They give him two weeks summer training at basic pay rates, on his own holiday time of course.

He's required on board every Monday from September to June. And Remembrance Day. Good attendance is a must. So is good appearance and deportment.

This recruit gets good training, from experienced superiors, who also are volunteers. He can learn first aid, pay writing, rifle shooting and drill, basic seamanship and music, if his division has a band. Promotions come to those who apply themselves. In about 10 years he could make petty officer or gain a commission if he has the educational qualifications.

The reserve seaman's duty has been defined as a backup for the regular navy in time of emergency so he's first to be called out if hostilities threaten.

But he likes the challenge. He must—for $1.87!

Groos Urges Reserve As Voluntary Unit

In Ottawa, Victoria Liberal MP David Groos suggested Victoria's disbanded naval reserve unit continue to co-operate with the navy as a voluntary association, without cost to the taxpayer.

In his maiden speech in the Commons, Mr. Groos said he was saddened by Defence Minister Hellyer's announcement that the reserve unit will be disbanded.

He said the navy must be kept strong to counter the threat from Soviet submarines.

A retired naval officer, Mr. Groos said the navy should have all the modern equipment and weapons necessary to defend Canada's shores against the sub menace.

There was some shipyard among the 1,000 shipyard workers in his constituency over the government's decision to cancel the $152,000,000 frigate program and purchase three British submarines.

The two actions had come as "unexpected blows" in Victoria, but the public realized that changes were needed now in the defence budget to permit progressive policies later.

Symphony

Mueller Music Director

Otto-Werner Mueller has accepted the position of conductor and music director of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra following the resignation of Hans Gruber.

Mr. Mueller was offered the position by the society on the advice of Mr. Gruber, who spoke in glowing terms of the guest conductor's ability.

HERE IS YEARS

Mr. Gruber has been with the Victoria Symphony for 15 years. This season Mr. Mueller acted as guest conductor while Mr. Gruber was on leave of absence.

Mr. Gruber, in his letter from Toronto, said he had been considering resigning for some time but was waiting until the right person to replace him was found.

Mr. Mueller's appointment is for another two years after he completes this season as guest conductor.

His only other comment: "We have a budget laid down and we must do all we can to stay within this amount."

City manager Dennis Young will meet project architect Rodrick Clark, comptroller James Bramley and representatives of consultant architects Wade, Stockhill and Armour and R. W. Siddall Associates early Monday.

Their recommendations will go before Centennial Square committee at a meeting scheduled for 2 p.m. Monday.

The tenders covered renovation of the 85-year-old city hall, which will become municipal offices, and construction of a new administrative wing flanking the square on Pandora Avenue.

It is the first phase of construction in the $2,000,000 civic project which has been in the planning stage for almost a year.

BIDS RECEIVED

The following bids were received: G. H. Wheaton Ltd., $394,423; R. A. Hall Ltd., $398,961; Luney Bros. & Hamilton Ltd., $602,794; Farmer Construction Ltd., $611,720; Burns & Dutton Construction Ltd., $332,000; and John Laing & Son (Canada) Ltd., $674,903.

The amount, just under 9 per cent, by which the low bid exceeded the budget is within generally accepted limits for this type of job, which includes new construction and renovation in almost equal parts.

LOW AND HIGH

Difficulties faced by contractors in preparing their estimates are underlined by the spread of approximately $80,000 between low and high bids received.

Ald. Millard Mooney said he was "greatly concerned" by the excess cost involved in the city hall project. He opposed a resolution turning tenders over to Centennial Square committee, which has power to award the contract. For a contract of this size, he said, council should make the final decision.

ALL WELCOME

Ald. Toone gave his assurance that all aldermen are welcome at Monday's committee meeting, and added that, in any event, if the final amount exceeds the $346,000 budget allocation, authority will have to be obtained from city council to secure additional funds.

Mountie and George Barr go through drill that usually leads to bad guys. Husky Alsatian, who Mr. Barr says off duty is house pet, takes a whiff of a glove in an exercise for photographer. Mountie and boss are employed by city police on a three-month experimental basis.—(Robin Clarke)

Dog Bolsters Force

By BOB PETHICK

A four-legged sleuth named Mountie has joined the Victoria police force to aid in sniffing out prowlers, break-in thugs and general ne'er do wells.

The four-year-old veteran Alsatian and his handler, George Barr, have been taken on by the Victoria city police department on a 90-day trial basis following a recent recommendation by Police Chief J. F. Gregory.

Crowd Control

Mountie is a familiar figure in the Greater Vancouver area. He and handler Barr have been used in crowd control at rock and roll dances, drive-in parties and a variety of jobs at which dogs are often more efficient than a uniformed man.

Mountie's first big claim to fame in Victoria came a short while ago on Millstream Road when he and Mr. Barr were called in to locate a pack of narcotics.

Public observing hours at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory have been discontinued for the winter months.

Observing periods will resume the first Saturday evening in April and the times will be 8 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Mr. Barr believes training never stops. But six to nine months is sufficient to start a dog on the road to police work.

Mountie's behaviour is strictly governed by his master.

"We work as a team. A dog is only as good as his handler," says Mr. Barr.

Though trained to attack when ordered, the husky Alsatian is seldom off the lead. When tracking a prowler, dog and handler work as a pair.

Always on Call

Mountie and boss are on call 24 hours a day and once on the scene of a break-in or a prowler call, he and the dog take over.

What is it like to live with a dog that has been trained to hunt down the bad guys?

"At home he is our house pet," says Mr. Barr.

Nose to Ground

Should you happen to be wandering along Victoria's streets in the wee hours of the morning and see a large dog, nose to the ground, and a man in a green uniform trotting alongside—don't be alarmed. The big dog won't hurt you; just feel sorry for the man at the other end of the scent.

Two Vessels

Salvage Jobs Rushed

Victoria's waterfront roared with activity yesterday as two unusual salvage operations were begun.

The biggest job was the unloading of grain from an Irish freighter, damaged 10 days ago in Vancouver harbor.

In another area of Ogden Point, Island Tug and Barge Ltd. righted a hog fuel barge which capsized last month in Juan de Fuca Strait.

FROM SEATTLE

A "vaculator"—high vacuum-cleaner machine—was brought in from Seattle to help unload the grain from the freighter, the Irish Rowan.

She collided with the Greek freighter Evie, and was gashed deeply amidships. Much of the Irish Rowan's 15,000 tons of grain were lost, and water flooded the remaining cargo.

She will be unloaded at Ogden Point, taken to Esquimalt for permanent repairs, and reloaded later at Ogden Point.

Major repairs will be required to the Irish Rowan's bottom plates, which buckled because of the uneven distribution of the cargo after the collision.

PLUS SHOVELS

The vaculator is augmented by shovels in unloading the grain.

Meanwhile, in another part of Victoria harbor, two Island Tug and Barge vessels attached lines to the capsized barge ITB 34, which went over in bad weather in Juan de Fuca Strait.

A clamshell shovel weighted down one side of the barge with bottom mud, and two tugs attached lines to opposite sides of the barge, one to the underside and one on top.

With a quick flip, the barge was upright.

Red Cross To Stage Clinics

Greater Victoria Red Cross workers will hold several blood donor clinics this month, beginning with a clinic at Red Cross House, 1044 Fort, Dec. 10. The clinic will be open from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Other clinics: Dec. 11—Legislative Building, west wing, main building, 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Dec. 12—RMC Dockyard, gymnasium, HMCS Venture, 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m.

Safe Driving Week No Different

Victoria's Safe Driving Week accident record is so far no better or worse than any other year, city traffic Inspector Brooke Douglass said yesterday.

He said the accident figure so far stands at 23, with seven injuries, about the same as last year at this time.

So far there have been no fatalities this week, an improvement over last year when a woman pedestrian was killed at Chambers and Pandora as she was crossing the street.

Inspector Douglass said the accident rate in the Victoria area during November was abnormally high due to the condition of streets during days of heavy rainfall.

Eyes Turn When Blonde Walks In

By DOROTHY WROTNOWSKI
Yesterday a blonde doll walked into the social department of this paper. And by the time she reached "social," every male reporter's eyes had literally swivelled in this direction. You couldn't blame them.

For the object of this attention was Bonnie Davis, a former Miss Winnipeg.

The petite, glamorous Miss Davis, with her honey-colored hair and large brown eyes, held that attention all the time she was in the office.

Bonnie is here for two days to publicize the Ice Capades that is coming to Victoria on Dec. 20. She's good at her job.

"I hope you will tell everyone that there will be auditions for Victoria skaters immediately following the show on opening night. That will be about 11 p.m."

Born in Calgary, Bonnie moved to Winnipeg at an early age and received her education there. But Calgary still holds attraction. "We went back every year for the stampede," she says. And it was while visiting in Calgary that she could go horseback riding, which she loves.

Bonnie has had quite a varied career since finishing school at 17. That was four years ago. She started off as a private secretary, then moved into the fashion and modelling field. Next she was on TV as a fashion commentator and doing commercials.

Late last spring she joined the Ice Capades to do publicity work. "I wanted to travel, and when you get paid for something you want to do, well, it was almost too good to be true."

Now, after being on the move for seven months, in Texas, Arizona, Oklahoma, Louisiana, New Mexico, California and the Northwest, she is just as keen.

"You meet so many marvelous people from all over the world and see so many interesting sights."

Bonnie was in Vancouver for the Grey Cup game last weekend—she's a keen football fan. It was her second big game, as she was at the fogged-out game in Toronto last year.

A short holiday is in store when she leaves here for her home in Winnipeg. She will see her toy poodle, Fifi, who has travelled with her until her mother and sister took her back to Winnipeg from Vancouver this week.

After Winnipeg, it will be on the road again. As far east as Ontario, then back to Hollywood.

21st Year

Daughter Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hammond marked the 21st birthday of their daughter, Diane, with a birthday party in the K of P Hall. Many guests attended the evening of dancing and singing. A buffet supper was served.

Mother Designs Gown

Juanita Anne Swanson became the bride of Mr. James Robert Proudlove in a pretty late-autumn wedding at All Saints' Church, View Royal.

Rev. John Vickers officiated at the afternoon ceremony for the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Swanson, of Cape Mudge, and the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Proudlove, 2811 Adelaide Street.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was radiant in a white duchess satin short gown, made by her mother. Her short veil misted from a tiny floral coronet. White carnations were in her bridal bouquet.

Bridesmaid Miss Sandra Rawles chose a short-length flamingo lace gown styled with bouffant skirt. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Tom Swanson, bride's brother, was best man. Messrs. Ken and Donald Proudlove, brother and cousin of the groom, were ushers.

An attractive wedding cake, made by the groom's mother, centred the bridal table at a reception held at the home of the groom's parents.

For a honeymoon trip on the mainland the bride changed to a grey boxer-style suit with red accessories.

HOW TO Decorate

If you've wall space going to waste, make it a practical and decorative asset in your room. For the amount of floor space it takes, a storage wall gives you maximum return in space-consciousness and convenience. You can buy adjustable shelves and arrange them to suit your exact needs, modular units in a variety of depths, or stack-on storage furniture that can be arranged to include space for books, a desk area, music centre, serving buffet—whatever you need. You'll find new storage shelves and furniture to suit any decorating style. —(Better Homes and Gardens)

Mrs. Moore Heads C.A.R.S. Auxiliary

Mrs. L. J. Moore was named president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society at the annual meeting at Red Cross House.

Other officers elected were Mrs. A. J. Bowring, first vice-president; Mrs. A. C. Fitcher, second vice-president; Mrs. O. J. Wilkie, secretary; Mrs. A. B. Humber, treasurer; Mrs. S. F.

Corless, corresponding secretary. Senator Nancy Hodges consented to stand as honorary president, and Mrs. E. C. Carson and Mrs. Bruce Hutchison consented to stand as honorary vice-presidents.

Mrs. W. Redford, retiring president, reported on the year's activities which included 746 visits to patients; 1,317 hours given by volunteer clinic aides; daily transportation supplied by volunteer drivers under leadership of Mr. A. F. Corker.

In addition a sum of $1,091.96 was spent on clinic equipment, patients' self-aids, Christmas gifts and ceramic and weaving classes. In the entertainment program the patients were guests at a tea in June.

Mr. J. Hopkinson, president of Victoria branch, spoke on the two legacies allowing bursaries to be awarded two local students wishing to train as physiotherapists.

Mrs. D. C. Todd and Mrs. G. Grossman convened the tea which followed the business meeting. Mrs. G. W. Hunt and Miss Amy Wills presided at the tea table.

Beattie-Cook

Son of City Couple Marries in Illinois

Of interest to Victoria was the recent wedding in Elgin, Ill., uniting in marriage Martha Lynn Cook and Mr. Douglas Stuart Beattie, son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Beattie—2810 Lansdowne Road. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Cook III, 32 River Bluff Road, Elgin, Ill.

Arbor vitis and hedges of white stock banked the channel of First Methodist Church for the candlelight ceremony at which Rev. Carleton Rogers officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the petite bride was lovely in an exquisite gown of imported crepe in sheath style. Guipure lace trimmed the detachable bouffant train and around the scooped neckline of the fitted bodice. Her silk illusion veil misted from a tiny hat with matching lace motif. She carried a white Bible covered with a bouquet of white butterfly orchids, ivy and sprig of Scotch heather.

Slipper-length gowns of emerald green velvet with matching circlet headpieces were worn by the bride's senior attendants—Mrs. Robert H. Canary, as her sister's matron-of-honor, and bridesmaids, the Misses Patricia Dyer, Margaret Powell, Janet Weaver, all sorority sisters of the bride. They carried bouquets of plumaria and ivy.

Junior bridesmaid, Miss Jane Cook, sister of the bride, was in an empire-style gown of emerald green velvet and wore a circlet of ivy leaves for her headpiece. Mr. Kenneth N. Beattie was best man for his brother. Usher-ing the guests to their pews were the Messrs. Tom Wells,

Talk of Travel Highlights Tea

Mrs. Will Luney presided at the tea table when Mr. and Mrs. W. Lloyd Morgan gave a small reception at their home, "The Priory," Pemberton Road, following an executive meeting of The Craigdarroch Castle Preservation Society. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Catherine Hadaway and Miss Lucie Woodrow.

Presiding at the meeting was society president James G. P.

Audain who, with Mrs. Audain, leaves in a few days to spend Christmas and New Years in the South Seas.

Travel talk was the highlight of the tea. Mrs. Josephine Godman and Miss Flora Hamilton Burns had just returned from some months in Europe. Miss Burns is now away again to spend the winter with her brother in southern California. Miss Inez Mitchell was freshly back from a tour of Japan, Hong Kong, Malaysia and Thailand, and Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Keir were telling of their visits to art galleries in eastern Canada and the United States, where they spent the autumn.

The society's annual meeting and membership tea will be Saturday afternoon, Dec. 14, at 3 o'clock, at "The Highlands," the Terrace Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Millard F. Loughheed.

This four-year-old society, which has already floodlit the towers and stained glass windows of Craigdarroch Castle, hopes to have as its next project some kind of formal garden on the terrace to the south of the castle.

FAST MISTRESS CLUB

Fast Mistress Club will meet in the Orange Hall, Courtney Street, on Tuesday, Dec. 10, at 8 p.m. Gifts will be exchanged.

Question Invalid

MONTREAL (CP) — Elsie Gregory MacGill, president of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, said here the question of whether a married woman should work "should not arise." The economy needed them, just as they needed to work. She felt the educational system still favored the single woman.

Machines Change Nursing

MONTREAL (CP) — Alice Girard, dean of the nursing faculty at the University of Montreal, says automation may change the practical aspect of nursing but never its mission.

"The machine must be accepted as a means to release the nurse, affording her more time for human relations," she said in an address at the fifth annual conference of Operating Room Nurses Group of Montreal.

Despite the natural hostility at being replaced in some of her duties by the electronic nurse, it is difficult to remain angry for long with a machine that will take and register the patient's arterial pressure every 10 minutes according to the doctor's instructions, she said.

"Patients accept technical progress insofar as it contributes to their recovery but they do not accept that this progress should deprive them of the relief and security they feel when they know they are the object of the nurses' attention."

Dream Comes True

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Clementina Sauro, a 58-year-old grandmother of 28 children, saw a 40-year-old dream come true when she received her bachelor of arts degree from the University of Toronto. Mrs. Sauro, a full-time public school teacher, took her university credits through the department of extension classes.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 13-year-old girl and in the eighth grade. In our class at school there are two groups of girls. One group is known as the clicks and the other group is known as the clucks.

The clicks are the fast kids and the clucks are the slow kids. Clicks do their hair up fancy, smoke, make-up, and are boy crazy. Clucks study a lot, they do not wear lipstick, even on the sneak, and they seem sort of boring and babyish.

My problem is, that I can't make up my mind which group to join. I look more like a Click, but my actions fit the Clucka better.

Can you help me decide?—BIRDIE.

Dear Birdie: No, I can't help you decide. This decision is one only you can make.

I can tell you, however, that I've received thousands of letters from Clicks who wish they had stayed Clucks.

Dear Ann Landers: I just finished reading the letter from the young man who wrote about his dainty bride who snored worse than any army buddy he'd ever bunked with.

Well, I, too, have been married less than a year. My wife told me after two weeks that I had to do something about my snoring because I was keeping her up nights.

I went to a doctor and he could find nothing wrong with my nose or throat. He told me I had developed a habit of sleeping with my mouth open and that's why I snored.

I was determined to break the habit and decided to experiment. Before retiring I placed two pieces of ordinary adhesive tape over my mouth. That is not nearly so uncomfortable as it sounds. After one week my problem was solved. I no longer have to use the tape. I now sleep with my mouth closed.

No kidding, Ann. It works. Try it.—SNORE NO MORE. Dear Snore: Thanks for your suggestion but I don't have to try it. I don't snore.

Dear Ann: My mother was always certain I would marry the richest and handsomest man in the world. When I married only the kindest and most loving she was crushed. Mother punished me for disappointing her by denying me the lovely wedding I had always dreamed of. She said his family was "not suitable to show off to our friends."

For two years after our marriage I tried to get mother to see Ben's fine qualities and accept him. She refused to even speak his name. We were never once invited to her home for a meal. She came to our home only when Ben was out of the city.

Six months ago mother suffered a heart attack. She made a good recovery after several weeks in the hospital. The doctor said she should not be left alone. After she fired three nurses in two weeks, Ben insisted that we take her into our home. Since mother has been with us I have become a nervous wreck. She criticizes his English and belittles him continually. I leave the dinner table in tears every night. What shall I do?—ALICIA.

Dear Alicia: Move your mother out of your home at once. Contribute to her support elsewhere if necessary, but don't subject yourself or Ben to her presence. The alternative may be a monstrous medical bill to restore your own shattered health (and Ben's, too).

Phone Call Highlight

CHEMAINUS—A quiet wedding took place on Nov. 30, when Rev. D. R. Lewis united in marriage Toni Gail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Gunderson, Chemainus, and David Alan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Urton, Chemainus, at the United Church, Ladysmith.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a two-piece mauve dressmaker suit, white feather hat and corsage of white carnations. She was attended by Miss Susan Kemp.

Alan Hart, Chemainus, supported the groom. A family dinner and reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Urton, where the highlight of the evening was a congratulatory phone call from the brother of the groom, Donald Urton Jr., who is with the RCMP at Winnipeg. The young couple will reside in Chemainus.

DAUGHTERS' LEAGUE—Canadian Daughters' League Assembly No. 5 will hold their Christmas party on Monday, Dec. 8, at 8 p.m. in the Elks' Hall, 732 Cormorant Street.

Coal Aid Won Nuclear Plant

HALIFAX (CP)—Careful financial manoeuvring enabled Nova Scotia to outbid the western provinces for a $30,000,000 heavy water plant, Industry Minister Manson said here.

Mr. Manson said in an interview the province turned a disadvantage into an advantage, coupled it with an existing coal subsidy and was able to undercut other bidders.

Federal Industry Minister Drury announced Monday Deuterium of Canada Ltd. would build the plant at Glace Bay, N.S.

Other organizations in competition for the plant were Dynamic Power Corporation, which proposed a Calgary site, and Imperial Oil Limited and Western Deuterium Limited, with proposed sites in British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan.

The choice of Cape Breton stirred criticism in other parts of Canada. British Columbia Premier W. A. C. Bennett said his province could supply coal at $3 a ton to produce steam compared with $13 in Nova Scotia.

Terrorists Free Colonel

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Col. James K. Chennault, tired but otherwise in good shape, was freed Thursday by pro-Communist terrorists who kidnapped him last Wednesday.

Chennault, deputy chief of the U.S. military mission here, said his kidnappers tried to indoctrinate him in communism, "but I told them some facts about life in the U.S."

Four youth abducted the 47-year-old officer as a propaganda move in the terrorist drive to bring down the government of President Romulo Betancourt.

Mermaid's Purse

Rare sight for human eyes is embryo swell shark, first-of-its-kind exhibit at Marineland of Pacific, Palos Verdes, Calif. Baby gets its food from round yolk and oxygen from water circulated through "purse" by shark's own movements. When hatching time comes, case opens and shark swims away. Empty cases that washed ashore were called mermaids' purses by ancient Greeks.

No Warheads Yet

Canada's Defence State Shattering—Churchill

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is in a state of unpreparedness that is "simply shattering," Conservative defence critic Gordon Churchill said Thursday.

Eight months after the Liberal government promised action on getting nuclear warheads, there still are none for the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile or for Canada's air force in Europe, he told the House of Commons in a defence debate.

NON-READINESS

The situation parallels the state of non-readiness by a Liberal government in 1939 and 1940, the former defence minister said in criticism of Defence Minister Hellyer's statement to the House.

The minister had given a resume of housekeeping decisions without any reference to policy, said Mr. Churchill, and this lack of policy and ineffective protection for Canada were to be condemned.

Mr. Churchill said not one single CF-104 in the RCAF's air division in Europe is ready for action in a nuclear role.

Mr. Hellyer would have to admit that it would be next spring before the CF-104s were ready.

Thin-Out Coming Abroad

OTTAWA (CP)—The defence department plans a thinning of ranks among Canadian military attaches abroad, informants say.

It is reported that Defence Minister Hellyer was appalled when a manpower study he had ordered showed that Canada's 39 senior military attaches abroad draw annual living and rental allowances totalling $343,200.

FILLED BY COLONELS

Most of these embassy posts are filled by colonels or their equivalent in the navy and air force—captains and group captains.

Officials said there appears no reason to maintain a Canadian military attaché at the Canadian embassy in Bonn, for instance, when a more senior Canadian officer commands the Canadian brigade in West Germany with headquarters only 90 minutes' drive from the West German capital.

DOZENS SENIOR

A military attaché is maintained in Paris though dozens of Canadian senior officers serve at Supreme Allied Headquarters there. He draws a monthly living allowance of $609 and a rental allowance of $247 on top of a monthly salary of nearly $1,000, excluding marriage and subsistence allowances.

Hellyer Warning:

More Defence Cuts Coming

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Hellyer announced Thursday big reductions in the defence establishment and warned that more are coming.

He chopped 28,079 persons—regular servicemen, civilians and reservists—from the rosters and $52,000,000 from the operation and maintenance budget.

"This is an essential first step toward providing... a more effective contribution to the national security," the 40-year-old minister said in the Commons, opening a debate on defence department spending estimates.

OUTSIDE HOUSE

Outside the House, officials said more reductions are in the offing. In the number of radar stations, warships committed to NATO's Atlantic Command and CF-104 nuclear bombers committed to NATO in Europe.

Lopped from the rolls are 1,121 servicemen, 3,316 civilians and 23,640 reservists, mainly in the militia. Informants said the objective is a 10-per-cent reduction in the manpower strength of the armed forces, now at 123,246. Current strength of the department's civilian staff is 43,377 and of the reserves 57,300.

TO CLOSE BASES

Mr. Hellyer announced a 1964 closing for many military bases from Newfoundland to British Columbia.

He also announced scrapping of the Canadian Bobcat armored personnel carrier in favor of the American M-113.

More than $8,000,000 has been spent on development of the Bobcat in the last 10 years. The 500 M-113s required for the brigade in Europe will cost $14,000,000.

CUT PERSONNEL

Closing of regular force stations will reduce army personnel by 994, navy personnel by 129 and civilian staff by 3,316. The annual savings will be $16,000,000 in the army, $8,000,000 in the RCAF and $7,500,000 in the navy.

The army reserve will be reduced to 30,000 from 51,000; naval reserve to 2,700 from 4,000; and RCAF reserve to 860 from 2,200. Savings here will be about $15,000,000 in the militia, and $5,250,000 in the navy and RCAF reserves.

Harold Winch (NDP—Vancouver East) praised the courage of Mr. Hellyer in announcing military housekeeping reductions and said millions of dollars will be saved.

Mr. Hellyer said his aim is to find ways to reduce overhead by cutting operations and maintenance costs.

He said the defence budget would soon top $2,000,000,000 "if the present defence establishment were maintained and the necessary weapons and equipment provided for the forces."

"There is no way of accomplishing these worthwhile re-

Court Parade

He Kicks Himself Into Jail

A man who kicks people was sentenced in city magistrate's court yesterday to four months in jail after he pleaded guilty to four charges of assault.

Danny Breeze, 22, of Kings Road, was identified by four people in court as being the man who had kicked them during affrays April 22 and Nov. 29 of this year.

TOLD TO LEAVE

Court was told Breeze, in company with two other men, was asked to leave a house at 659 Niagara April 22, where he was creating a disturbance.

Before leaving he kicked an elderly man in the stomach and knees, and kicked another man in the knee when he tried to help the man.

"You mean you can still identify me after seven months, when you only saw me for five minutes?" Breeze asked one of the witnesses.

"Sure," was the answer. "I can always remember a punk's face."

Breeze was also charged with kicking one man in the stomach and another in the face when he got into a fight Nov. 29 after being refused service in a beverage room of the Drake Hotel.

COWARD, BULLY

"Your principal means of communication with other people seems to be by kicking them," said Magistrate William Oetler in passing sentence. "I think you are a coward and a bully."

Breeze was sentenced to one month on each of the four charges. The sentences will run consecutively.

Drinking from a 40-ounce bottle of wine while sitting in a restaurant got a man a $50 fine in city magistrate's court yesterday.

Court was told William Davis, 431 Linden, was drinking from the bottle in the Canada Cafe, 2626 Government.

A man pleaded guilty in Saanich magistrate's court yesterday to two charges of false pretences.

Court was told David Eric Sands of Vancouver cashed a cheque for $148 at Suburban Motors, 3377 Douglas, July 15, and another for $82 at McMoran's general store, 5108 Cordova Bay Road, Oct. 31.

Magistrate Oetler adjourned the case a week for a probation report.

Blind Elect Mrs. Watling

Mrs. Elizabeth Watling has been elected president of the Victoria White Cane Club.

Other officers named at the club's annual meeting Wednesday were: Mrs. Gladys Harwood, Mrs. A. O. Shipp and Mrs. Hugh Smith, secretaries and Arthur Ashworth, treasurer.

Committee chairmen are Mrs. G. H. Blanchet, Bill Long, Clarence Hyde, A. J. Wishart and Jim Davies.

MURPHY, WURTELE, COX ELECTED

Put Up
By Lum

By JACK FRY

Incumbent Reeve Stanley Murphy defeated challenger Edward Lum by only 184 votes yesterday in Saanich, where only 22 per cent of the 25,962 eligible voters bothered to cast their ballots.

Mr. Lum, who led the polls most of the way and gave Saanich the closest reeve ship race it has known in years, said he still holds hopes of winning the reeve ship when the ballots are rechecked by the returning officer.

Reeve Murphy said "the contest for reeve ship established Ed Lum as a very well-respected citizen who will be heard from in the future."

The small turnout of voters

Victorious Reeve A. C. Wurtele is carried in victory by the three winning council contenders after decisive vote swept him back into Esquimalt

council seat. Sharing the victory limelight after hard-fought campaign are George Argyle, left, G. T. Horne and Arthur Mebs.—(Bud Kinsman)

Turnout Sets
Record

By BOB PETHICK

A record 57 per cent of Esquimalt's eligible voters turned out for yesterday's municipal election and gave overwhelming support to Reeve A. C. Wurtele and his three independent supporters.

New councillors to be sworn in at the end of the year are Arthur Mebs, George Argyle, a former Esquimalt councillor, and G. T. Horne.

HUGE VOTE
The huge vote was an obvious gesture on the part of Esquimalt to vindicate Reeve Wurtele of intimidation charges made in council two weeks ago.

Final count in the reeve race was Coun. D. H. Nelson, 661; Reeve Wurtele, 1,664.

FIRST COUNT

From the time the first count was in there was little doubt about the outcome, with the three independent candidates leading by more than 100 votes.

A gallery of interested spectators sat in the public seats in council chambers as municipal clerk Jack Allen rallied his staff in the vote count.

NOME GREW

As the first votes were chalked up, noise in the chambers grew until the clerk had to call for silence.

The municipal hall was the scene of back slapping, interjected with a few "I told you so's."

WILL GET OUT

"Oh well, c'est la guerre," said defeated councillor Casels. "I didn't think I was going to get in. But it goes to show one thing, give the people an issue and they will get out and vote."

Coun. Casels was the mover of a motion of censure against Reeve Wurtele at a council meeting two weeks ago, the reason, many felt, that so many people went to the polls.

Overwhelming

New Hall Backed

By Saanich Voters

Saanich voters last night indicated their overwhelming support for construction of a new municipal hall, when 69½ per cent of the voters approved a municipal hall referendum which required a staggering 60 per cent support for approval.

Reeve Stanley Murphy announced within minutes of his reelection that the municipal hall bylaw will be given final reading at Monday's council meeting and that detailed plans will be called for from the architect so tenders can be called early in the spring of 1964.

BY SUMMER

"We hope construction of the new $785,000 hall can be started by summer, but we will be lucky if we get the hall finished by December 1964," he said.

Passage of the municipal hall referendum "indicates the people of Saanich are prepared to provide the necessary administrative quarters for the staff," said the reeve.

Youngest Reeve

By HARVEY SHEPHERD

Oak Bay electors last night endorsed the kind of government they've been getting in an election which gave Oak Bay its first woman councillor ever and its youngest reeve.

Electors gave 36-year-old Coun. Allan Cox, announced favorite of retiring Reeve George Murdoch, a thumping 2,563-to-1,020 victory over his only opponent, Coun. J. D. Watts.

FIRST WOMAN

And they handed Mrs. Frances Elford a 2,165 to 1,939 margin over the next-highest polling candidate to give her a two-year term as the first woman ever to serve on Oak Bay council.

Incumbent councillors Walter Dodsworth and W. J. Wade topped the polls in their bid for two-year seats with 2,376 and 2,305 votes, respectively, and Mrs. Elford was next in line.

CRITICS FAIL

In the race for the three two-year terms the two most vigorous critics of council policy, lawyer Donald Cameron and school teacher Eric Makowski, lost out, polling 1,959 and 1,156.

In a race for a one-year term created by Coun. Watts' resignation to seek the reeve ship, Oak Bay public accountant Peter Lovrie beat out colorful "light-house philosopher" Bill Scott by a resounding 2,708 to 772.

REEVE HAPPY

Reeve Murdoch said he was happy with the results, and said electors have chosen a council that will continue the calibre of government Oak Bay has had continuously for 37 years.

He said that he is happy to finally see a woman on council, that a woman's viewpoint is an essential thing in civic government and that Mrs. Elford is "a brilliant woman with a long list of achievements to her credit in the community."

LIGHT TURNOUT

But he was sharply critical of the light voting turnout — 3,394 of an eligible 8,832 or 42.02 per cent, as compared with 45.1 per cent in 1961, the last time there was an election for reeve.

Reeve-elect Cox said he thinks the reeve's biggest job is promoting intermunicipal co-operation. He said he does not think the reeve's job is to dictate policy to council and he is "delighted" with the team of councillors elected — and to have a woman on council.

"I know Frances and I know she has an open mind," he said.

Defence Chop Hits Victoria

Another Bad Blow!

Defence cutbacks announced in Ottawa yesterday is another serious blow to the economy of this area, said Victoria Chamber of Commerce president E. E. Pearkman.

"We appreciate the purpose of these cutbacks, nevertheless it is unfortunate that the West Coast seems to have suffered another blow to its economy," he said.

"It seems to me that the accumulative effect of the navy frigate cancellation, loss of a heavy water plant con-

Victoria Loser Comox Gainer

Heavy defence department cutbacks strike the Greater Victoria area with elimination of:

- HMCS Malahat reserve division.
- Naval air reserve squadron VC-922 at Patricia Bay.

In addition, reductions have been ordered in navy's utility air squadron VU-33 at Patricia Bay and in the surface auxiliary vessel fleet, 26 of which are based at Esquimalt.

Cuts in army militia are expected to be felt here although details are unknown.

While Victoria is a loser in the new policy, Comox is a gainer. RCAF air-sea rescue unit is being shifted from Vancouver to the RCAF station on the island.

U.S. Securities 'Police' Complain of B.C. Mine

SEATTLE (AP) — The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission filed a complaint in United States district court Thursday against New Reufus Argenta Mines Ltd., a British Columbia corporation.

The complaint said no registration had been filed with the commission and that misleading statements had been issued in connection with a stock offer. It seeks preliminary and permanent injunctions against the firm.

Royal Roads military college, however, will be kept open even though its closure was recommended by the Glasco royal commission on government organization, Mr. Hellyer told the Commons yesterday.

FIRST REPORTS

First reports from Ottawa indicated that the naval reserve division HMCS Malahat, 1002 Wharf Street, will be disbanded; that naval reserve air squadron VC-922 at Patricia Bay Airport will be disbanded and that the navy's utility air squadron VU-33 at Patricia Bay will be reduced.

The navy's fleet of 20 auxiliary vessels, manned by 251 civilian personnel in Esquimalt, will be affected by a decision to take 10 of the navy's 160 auxiliary vessels out of service.

Vancouver Island's 1,000-member militia group headed by Col. Peter F. Ramsay, commander 25 Militia Group, also will be affected. If it is national policy, Canada's militia manpower will be reduced from 51,000 to 30,000.

The RCAF Search and Rescue Unit at Vancouver will be transferred to Comox on Vancouver Island.

"This comes as no surprise but we don't know when it will take place or how we will be affected. If it is national policy, we would expect to take our lumps along with everyone else," said Col. Ramsay.

OFFICER CADETS

HMCS Malahat has about 180 officers, men and Wrens, under the command of Cmdr. Peter Thomas. The division administers 30 officer cadets from the University of Victoria, who are under the university naval training division.

HMCS Malahat also adminis-

Colonist 500 Fund

Here's How to Turn Old Toys Into Cash

Date of the annual toy auction which swells the funds of The Daily Colonist Christmas 500 Fund is fast approaching and toys are urgently needed.

The auction will be held at Maynard's auction rooms, 733 Johnson Street, Dec. 17.

Auctioneers' commission is turned over to the 500 Fund by Maynard's. This annual toy auction gives Victorians a chance to turn discarded playthings into cash and help recipients of the 500 Fund as well.

Maynard's will accept for auction any toys still in good repair and Art Kool of Reliable Transfer Co. will pick them up and deliver them to the auction rooms free of charge where a reasonable number are available.

Anyone wishing to donate a toy for the auction may bring them to Maynard's auction rooms, 733 Johnson St., Monday through Saturday between 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Every cent raised by the auction and every cent donated to the 500 Fund goes to Greater Victoria's 500 most needy families as a Christmas present.

Donations may be brought or mailed to The Daily Colonist, 2631 Douglas, or left at Acousticon of Victoria during business hours.

Quick Help Thick Lip

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Pol-lithman." William Barnes liaged Thursday, "don't help me again."

Barnes was struggling Wednesday night with three thugs when Det. Sgt. William Runge came to his rescue. Runge swung and connected — right on the mouth of Barnes.

The thugs got away with Barnes' wallet containing $23.

Eight Boys Admit Nanaimo Car Thefts

NANAIMO — Eight boys pleaded guilty to automobile theft in court Thursday and were remanded to Jan. 20 on other charges.

Three were sent to Brannan Lake School and the others were released in the custody of their parents under stringent restrictions.

The youths, ranging in age from 14 to 16, were charged following an RCMP investigation.

Police said they took cars from used-car lots on trial, kept the spare ignition keys when returning the vehicles, then later used the cars for joy-riding.

DUNCAN — Incoming president Murdie Robertson of the Duncan Kiwanis club recently named new committees.

The slate of chairmen is: Lindsay Loutet, youth service; Sam Keeble, vocational guidance; Sam Koffski, agriculture and conservation; Ole Quagley, international relations; Knut Flakstad, support of churches; Ray Thom, administration; Bert Lefever, house and reception; Hall MacKenzie, education and inter-club; Doug Greenwood, program; Dave Williams, public affairs; Lyle Reid, village society; George Sinden, ambulance society; Bob Corney, TB seals; Donald Dingwall, attendance and membership; Denis Oram, finance; Hall MacKenzie, laws and regulations; Murdie Robertson, new club building; Donald Dingwall, public relations.

FANNY BAY — Sharon Robertson, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Robertson of Fanny Bay, was released from St.

Social Security

Official Due Here From U.S.

A representative of the U.S. Social Security administration will visit Victoria for two days next week.

The official will be available at the U.S. Immigration office in the Canadian Pacific building, 468 Belleville, Wednesday from noon to 4:30 p.m. and Thursday from 8:30 a.m. until noon.

Purpose of the visit is to allow individuals living in the Victoria area to contact this representative if they have any questions about the U.S. social security program.

It is also to assist people in filling out forms necessary for applying for benefits or continuing benefits in certain instances.

Forged Pass Does Trick

WINNIPEG (UPI) — Trying to get into Fort Rouge jail on a forged pass has proven costly for a Winnipeg man and woman.

Rita Horvath, 23, and Philip George Bolly, 24, tried to get into the jail Oct. 8 to see Mrs. Horvath's husband, Ernest.

Mrs. Horvath had obtained a pass and she and Bolly changed it to read Mr. and Mrs. Horvath. A constable became suspicious and they were arrested.

Mrs. Horvath was fined $25 and costs. Bolly was sentenced to six months in jail.

Church Planning Christmas Drive

TORONTO (CP) — The United Church of Canada will launch a campaign Monday urging Canadians to put more thought and less commercialism into Christmas. The church plans to use mass media — radio, television, newspapers and billboards — at a cost of about $7,000.

Taxpayers Make Sure

NORTH COWICHAN — A group of civic-minded taxpayers in the south end of the North Cowichan municipality yesterday undertook a strong effort to get eligible taxpayers to the polls.

The "get out and vote committee" consisted of volunteers who phoned all day long, reminding people of their election duties, and offering free rides to the polls whenever requested.

Manning four phones, volunteer election helpers worked in shifts of two hours each.

PORT ALBERNI — No blame was placed on anyone when the coroner's jury brought in a verdict of accidental death at an inquest on a faller who succumbed to injuries Nov. 13 in West Coast General Hospital.

John Grimard died five days after being struck by a tree being felled at Sproat Lake division by Samuel I. Rogers.

The jury recommended that regulations regarding distances between fallers be strictly adhered to and enforced.

According to regulations, fallers must be positioned at least 300 feet apart. Rogers and Grimard were working within 45 feet of each other at the time of the accident on Nov. 8, according to information given at the inquest.

DUNCAN — Police court: Barry Smith, Duncan, causing disturbance by swearing, $35; James Cameron, Duncan, false pretenses by cashing worthless cheque, $40; Robert Fry, Duncan, careless driving, $25.

R. V. Alphonse, Duncan, disobeying traffic light, $12; Paul M. Bottomley, Duncan, minor in possession of liquor, $17; L. M. Wilson, Duncan, speeding, $20; Edward Taborish, Duncan, driving while his right to obtain driver's licence was under suspension, $45.

A. R. Thorburn, Cobble Hill, careless driving, $30; Jack Chang, Duncan, failing to obtain unemployment insurance book for employee, $10.

KYUQUOT — More than 25 inches of rain were recorded here during November, including six inches during one 24-hour period.

Although there were only four rain-free days during the month there was some let-up from the almost continuous southeast gales and thunderstorms that plagued this part of the coast during October.

DUNCAN — Members of the Duncan Kiwanis Club at their last meeting, Wednesday, voted a $50 donation for the Cowichan Christmas Cheer Fund and a $10 donation will come from the women's auxiliary of the club.

PARKSVILLE — Indoor turkey shoots will be held by Parksville Kinmen Club on two consecutive Saturdays before Christmas, Dec. 7 and Dec. 14, at the community hall commencing at 11 a.m.

Guns will be supplied and refreshments will be available at the stand operated by Parksville Kinmen Club at the hall. There will be a limit of two turkeys per person.

NANAIMO — Robert Pollick, Nanaimo, pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving yesterday. He was fined $40 and his licence was suspended for 10 days.

An attempt to jettison the evidence was unsuccessful when one of four occupants of a car involved in an accident, Nov. 25 on the George Pearson Bridge jumped out of the car and threw a case of beer over the bridge.

RCMP found more beer when they searched the car. Charged with being a minor in possession of beer, Ronald Dudley Durrance, driver of the car pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs.

PORT ALBERNI — Rites will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. in Grace Lutheran Church for Mrs. Otilie Schultz who died in West Coast General Hospital Wednesday at the age of 67 years.

She was born in Lodz, Poland. Her husband, John, predeceased her in 1952 and she came to make her home here eight years ago.

She leaves one son, Rev. Gordon Schultz, Kamloops; a daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Ielsin, Port Alberni; nine grandchildren; two brothers, Gustave Fox, Vancouver, and William Fox, Edmonton; two sisters, Mrs. Emma Price, Edmonton, and Mrs. G. Roehrs, California.

Rev. R. Schmidt will conduct the services in the church and at the graveside in Alberni Valley Memorial Gardens.

DUNCAN — The Canadian Opera Company and the Victoria Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Otto Werner Mueller will present Mozart's Così Fan Tutte, to night at 8:30 p.m. at the Cowichan Senior Secondary Auditorium.

KYUQUOT — Thomas Barnett, MP, has sent a preliminary print of the large-scale chart of this harbor to Mrs. Henry Delisle, secretary of the Community Club. This chart was compiled from data assembled this summer by surveyors from the ship Parry.

DUNCAN — December 9 is slated for the next meeting of the Valley Garden Club, to be held at St. Peter's Church Hall, Quamichan, at 8 p.m. Guest speaker will be W. H. Warren of the Victoria Parks Board, who will show slides of English gardens.

Lions Man Ambulance

GANGES — Salt Spring Island Lions Club members have tackled the problem of insufficient ambulance personnel. They drive the vehicle themselves.

All members of the club here take turns at two-week duty in manning the ambulance.

It is housed at Lady Minto Hospital but maintained and wholly operated by the Lions. The ambulance carries oxygen equipment and is equipped to handle blood transfusions under medical supervision.

Salt Spring Islanders may join the ambulance society for $5 per year per family, which entitles them to free service to Lady Minto, Victoria and Duncan hospitals.

Since formation of the society 173 trips have been made, covering a total distance of 3,500 miles.

Banquet Honors Nanaimo Redmen

NANAIMO — Nanaimo Redmen football players were recipients of high tribute from head table speakers at a testimonial dinner given in their honor at the Tally-Ho Wednesday night.

At the head table were Mayor Pete Maffeo, B.C. Lions player Greg Findlay, guest speaker; Sandra Hole, Miss Nanaimo of 1963, and other Nanaimo club and sports notables.

Miss Hole presented each of the Redmen with a special medallion presented by a Nanaimo firm.

Redmen won the Little Grey Cup and became Canadian juvenile football champions for the second consecutive year last week when they downed the Port Garry Lions club by 24-20 in Victoria.

Frank Ney was master of ceremonies.

Portlock Camera Winner

GANGES — T. W. Portlock won the club trophy for the best color transparency in the fourth annual Picturama of the Gulf Islands Camera Club, held Nov. 29 and 30 in Mahon Hall, Ganges.

The program featured sequences of color slides and movies, including winning transparencies and other entries and were presented by Mrs. W. J. Seymour and V. A. Bishop.

Judging was done by Victoria Camera Club. Other winners were (first mentioned were winners, others received honorable mention): Color transparencies — flowers and gardens — Ray Willie, Mrs. Edna McLeod, Mrs. Seymour; scenic, Miss Julia Hall, Mayne Island, Miss Betty Galt, Mrs. McLeod, Miss V. Sallies; architecture, Mrs. Sallies; children, Mrs. J. F. deMauro, Miss Hall; animals, Mr. Portlock, Mrs. Seymour, Miss Sallies; portraits, Mrs. Seymour; miscellaneous, Miss Hall, Mrs. Portlock, Mrs. Seymour; people at work or play, Mr. Portlock.

Parksville District

Floyd New Head Of Garden Club

PARKSVILLE — Thomas S. Floyd was elected president of Parksville and District Garden Club at the recent annual meeting, succeeding William G. Wheeler.

Other officers elected were Mrs. A. G. Tranfield, first vice-president; William Ogilvie, second vice-president; James W. Haworth (re-elected); secretary-treasurer, committee: Mrs. George Watson, C. W. R. Attwood, T. M. Wilson, Poul Christiansen, E. F. McKay, Mr. Wheeler and E. J. Tucker.

The social committee is comprised of Mrs. E. C. Brodersen and Mrs. Prudence Beuselink and the sick committee, Mrs.

W. G. Wheeler. Judges for monthly competitions will be Mr. Attwood and W. G. Wheeler.

Winners of the monthly competition at the annual meeting were: artistic arrangement of fruit or vegetables with flowers of foliage, Mrs. A. Ambrose, Mrs. T. S. Floyd; Christmas table centerpiece, Mrs. Ambrose, T. M. Wilson, Mrs. Beuselink; potatoes, Mrs. Ambrose.

Harbor Work Due

KYUQUOT — Work may start on harbor improvements here in the early spring.

Provisional plans of the department of public works call for construction of a wharf 50 feet by 100 feet, on pilings, and with a freight shed. Alongside the 300-foot approach, also on pilings, is to be a float 12 feet by 160 feet.

This wharf would extend into the deepest part of the harbor and some existing floats and fish-camps would have to be moved a short distance to one side.

Some deepening of the harbor entrance will also be necessary before any ship the size of the Northland Navigation's Tahsis Prince will be able to come in.

Cambodia Bans Time, Newsweek

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian government banned the American news magazines Time and Newsweek Wednesday, charging they had committed "criminal acts of injury against the Cambodian government." The announcement did not specify which stories in the magazines were considered objectionable.

Hospital Visiting Widened at Nanaimo

NANAIMO — The Nanaimo Regional Hospital has announced radical changes in the hospital visiting hours.

The new hours will allow visitors who previously could not visit their friends and relatives, owing to transport difficulties and working hours, more opportunity to do so.

The new visiting hours, which come into effect today, are:

Visiting adult patients (except maternity cases), 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily; children's ward, 2:30 p.m. to 7 p.m.; maternity patients, 2 to 3 p.m. and 7 to 8 p.m.

Where a patient has to remain in hospital for a lengthy period children over three may visit between 2 and 4 p.m. on Sundays, if accompanied by an adult.

The hospital management asks the public to help by making their visits shorter and more frequent. Frequent short visits have a beneficial effect on the patient who is often tired out by long visits. The public is also asked to avoid having more than two visitors seeing a patient at one time.

Death Report False

Ace Bailey 'Revives' Again

TORONTO (CP) — Many hockey officials and fans could hardly believe their eyes when Ace Bailey appeared at Maple Leaf Gardens to take his regular position as penalty time-keeper Wednesday night.

Just about two hours before game time reports of the former Toronto Maple Leaf star's death were broadcast by radio and television stations.

But Ace had been mistaken for Harold Bailey, a 64-year-old city parks employee, who died of a heart attack as he inspected damage to his car following a minor traffic accident.

Harold Bailey was known to his fellow workers as Ace—and when some confusion as to identity arose at the hospital, it led to the erroneous report.

NEWS MAIN TOPIC

At Maple Leaf Gardens, the sole topic of conversation was his "passing." There was even talk of observing a period of silence for him before the game between the Leafs and Montreal Canadiens started.

"There were sure some surprised looking people when I walked in," Ace said. "Most people had heard it. A lot of them blinked and shook their heads."

One of the first to encounter

Bailey was Conn Smythe, former president of the Maple Leafs, and now a member of the board of directors, who had stayed at Ace's bedside in Boston during his valiant fight for life in 1933.

"My driver had picked me up to go to the game," said Smythe.

"He told me Bailey had died and it was a big blow. When I saw him alive as we drove into the Gardens, it was a happy moment."

Three Chiefs Carry Load

Victoria's Haida Chiefs are off to a slow start in the Inter-City Basketball League, but they have some consolation.

Norris Martin and Darrell Lorimer are scoring better than ever, and rookie Pete Simmonds has become one of the league's outstanding rebounders.

Official statistics show Martin, the defending scoring champion, leads in points scored with 159, and although he is only third in the averages he is hitting at 22.7 points per game compared to a league-leading 18.9 point average last season.

PLAYED MORE

Lorimer, who averaged 15.9 points last year, is now hitting an even 19 points per game, and is second to Martin in total points with 133. However, both Martin and Lorimer have played one more game than Alberni Athletics and two more than Vancouver IGA. North Van Harlems and Vancouver McGavins.

"Harlems' Billy Joe Price and rookie Ian Dixon of IGA lead the averages at 24 points per game, with Martin third and Lorimer fourth. The 6'8" Price has hauled down 90 rebounds, an average of 18 per game.

Simmonds is second in rebounding, taking 66 off the boards for a 12-per-game average.

BEST SHOOTER

Best shooter in the league on a percentage basis is Alberni's Neil Drom, who is averaging 51 per cent. Price has a 48 per cent mark. John Kootneko of IGA 47 per cent and Dixon 46 per cent. Top Chief is Martin, at 40 per cent.

IGA meets McGavins tonight in Vancouver, needing a win to move into a second-place tie with Athletics. They meet again tomorrow night, and Athletics and Harlems play on the same card.

LONG BEST

Chiefs don't have a league game until Dec. 12, when they play IGA in Vancouver and have a rematch the following night.

To keep busy, they play an exhibition game tomorrow night at 8:30 against Renton Nuggets, an American small college club, at Central Junior High School.

Chinooks Kill Rinks In Calgary

CALGARY (UPI) — The current unseasonably mild weather in Alberta is fine for most residents but it's bad for outdoor hockey fans and players.

An official of the Calgary Community Recreation Association says the mild winters are threatening to kill the sport.

Another official of the group said there were only 31 days of outdoor hockey last winter. In Edmonton, the spring-like temperatures have also forced closure of outdoor skating rinks.

Pontiacs Sailors Collide

Esquimalt Pontiacs go after their fifth straight victory in the Esquimalt and District Hockey League tonight at 8 p.m. at Esquimalt Sports Centre.

Pontiacs, four points ahead of idle Victoria University Vikings, take on the last-place Navy club, which has managed only one victory in four starts.

OUTDOORS with Alec Merriman

Steelheading time is here, but you have to watch the rains and pick the times to find the rivers in just the right condition. Mostly they have been too high, but cold weather early in the week brought them down a little. Rainy weather now is bringing them up again.

Bucky Kennett reports the steelhead are in the Cowichan. Some have been taken around the Skutz Falls area, but yesterday the river was rising again and was becoming muddy.

Verna Palliser says the river has been too high for good fishing at the top end of the Cowichan, but two steelhead were recorded last week.

Murray Cree reports a few steelhead are coming into the Englishman, Big and Little Qualicum Rivers, but the water is still high and colored.

Both Campbell and Quinsam Rivers have produced steelhead.

Conditions have been good in Harris Creek and a few fish have been taken. The gate is expected to be open this week-end and it will be moved back to the old camp. Reason the road has been gated is some junk man got in with a truck and raided the camp when buildings were being dismantled.

Limit steelhead catches are coming from the Stamp and Ash Rivers in the Alberni.

Lots of rain has made Cowichan Lake muddy and the fish have stopped taking the troll, but they are still taking salmon egg paste fished from the shore and around the creek mouths. Trout fishing has been good in Shawigan and Quinichan Lakes.

Winter springs and big grise are still plentiful in the salt-water fishing areas on the lower Island.

Saanich Inlet is the hot spot. Inlet fishing on the weekend was reported pretty hot, went off early in the week and yesterday was reported back on again.

Pinelawn Arm, between Hall Boat House and Goldstream Island, Chesterfield Rock and the Narrows has been good for both big grise on bucktail flies and springs up to 14 pounds on plugs and Strip-Tearer. Alf Joyce landed a 15-pounder Sunday at the Narrows on Mac's Squid plug. Charlie Brown got his limit of four springs, heaviest 11.6, on Mac's Squid Island on a Mac's Squid. Strip-Tearer off Chesterfield Rock caught three beauties, heaviest 14.2 pounds for Alec Stewart. Art Mawer and party caught 23, heaviest 8.5 pounds, on Strip-Tearer between Goldstream Island and the Deep Hole.

White Lady has been the best spot for bucktailing. Jim Gilbert reported a fresh run of springs Wednesday in the Tod Inlet to Willis Point area. McKenzie Bay has been hot for jackrabbits and best bite has been on the tide change. There are grise pretty well all over the Brentwood end of the Inlet.

Federal fisheries biologists tagged 380 blues on Tuesday. Some winter springs and quite a few grise have been coming from Cowichan Bay waters.

Oak Bay has been good for winter springs around Strong-tide Island, The Gap and Trial Island and there are lots of grise around.

Six to eight ounces of weight has been getting the springs, but some are fishing deep, almost bouncing the bottom.

Victoria waterfront is still good and you only have to watch the commercial trawlers to find out where fishing is best.

Pedder Bay went off at the weekend with the north winds, but is still probably the most consistent producer of winter springs in the outside waters. It has been best on the incoming tide with large strip, fished deep.

Not too many have been fishing Becher Bay and Sooke, but those who have, have been getting good catches of winter springs with change of tide and large strip best combination.

Cowboys Beat B.C. With Cash

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Mel Renfro, University of Oregon halfback, said Thursday he probably will sign a contract with Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League.

Renfro, bothered by injuries this season, confirmed he talked Wednesday with Dave Skrien, coach of British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League, but said Dallas made a better offer.

Renfro was drafted second by Dallas. Oakland picked him the 10th round of the American Football League draft.

CUTS HAND

Renfro, 22, second draft choice of Dallas of the National Football League, cut his hand on a mirror at his home recently and Lions general manager Herb Capozzi quoted doctors as saying there is always a chance of impairment after nerve injuries. Renfro still wears a cast on the hand.

"In addition to financial problems, the contract provisions requested by Renfro were contrary to club and league policy," Capozzi said.

He would not comment further on this statement. But he added Lions felt it would be unfair to bring an unproven player into training camp at an "unrealistic" salary.

Mayor Looks Ahead

Wilson by Acclamation

Second-Term Goal: Planning

By IAN STREET

Mayor R. B. Wilson was re-elected to his second term by acclamation yesterday and promised that during the next two years positive action will be taken to meet long-term planning needs of Victoria.

Two projects of the "utmost importance" to the entire community — completion of a metro traffic study and updating of the 1958 Capital Region Plan — will require action before the end of 1963.

"I am hopeful that there will be continuing co-operation between all areas of government to achieve desirable development of this very choice part of the world, lower Vancouver Island," the mayor said.

The city's attitude towards amalgamation remains as it was two years ago when he first took office, Mayor Wilson said.

"We are still prepared to discuss any constructive moves towards better government in this broad area. But progress here depends to a great degree on the wishes of the surrounding municipalities," he said.

Mayor Wilson, who left town yesterday for a weekend vacation, said he was "extremely gratified" to be returned for another two year term.

"There are several major projects, including Centennial Square, to be carried forward and many unresolved problems to which city council must turn its attention in the near future," he said.

Pair's Appeal Scheduled For Dec. 11

NANAIMO — The appeal against the conviction of Clifford White and David Bob, Island Indians convicted of being in possession of deer carcasses out of season, is to be heard by County Court Judge L. A. Hanna at Nanaimo, Dec. 11.

Nanaimo lawyer Don Cunliffe will be crown prosecutor and the defence will be conducted by Tom Berger, Vancouver.

The case has caused widespread interest owing to the original defence, which claimed special rights for Indians under an old treaty signed in 1852.

There'll be new faces around Port Alberni's city council table following Thursday's municipal elections — and apparently new school facilities in the city's future.

Just before press time Eric Leslie "Les" Hammer had a commanding lead in a six-man race to fill the mayoralty vacated by long-time Mayor Logan Jordan.

Of nine men seeking three two-year council seats, newcomer Howard McLean was leading the poll, with George Reynolds second and Jack Perry third.

The vote in favor of a $2,000,000 school bylaw referendum was 82.7 per cent in Alberni and the rural areas, and had a lead of 785 to 368 in Port Alberni itself. The referendum requires a 60 per cent favorable vote to pass.

MCLEAN SURPRISED

Howard McLean said of his lead in the vote:

"I am surprised at the size of the lead, because I had not been confident of election. I will approach city business with an open mind, realizing I am new to municipal affairs."

"Mr. Reynolds was also pleased with the results.

VALUE FOR DOLLAR

"I pledge myself to co-operate and to work for the betterment of the city," he said as vote-counting neared an end. "I will do my best to see that citizens receive the greatest possible value for their tax dollar."

"Whatever I do will be independent of any group or organization. When the majority goes against me, I will work with council as a team."

In Nanaimo, where Pete Maffeo had been re-elected by acclamation, seven candidates ran a tight race for three aldermanic seats — and one of three incumbents seeking re-election lost out.

Newcomer Ted Barsby headed the poll, with Ald. Eus McDonald and Ald. John Cook following him into office.

SCHOOLS WIN OUT

Two school bylaw referendums won substantial favorable votes, one receiving a 71.8 per cent city-rural combined vote, the other a 72 per cent vote.

Successful in seeking a seat on Nanaimo council, Ted Barsby said "I feel very humble and hope I can live up to the faith people have shown in me, and fulfill their expectations."

Bus MacDonald, returned as an alderman, said "People had the democratic right to throw me out of they didn't like the way I fulfilled my office, but they seem to have liked what I have done."

"I am grateful for their support, and will endeavor to do my best for Nanaimo."

VOTERS LAUDED

Another re-elected alderman, John Cook, was pleased with the number of voters. "I certainly am thankful to the voters for their wonderful response, and I congratulate them on turning out in such force."

Defeated in his attempt to regain an aldermanic post, William McGregor said he had enjoyed his 10 years in office.

"I believe we made progress during that time. I wish Ted Barsby the best of luck while on council."

CHEMAINUS PLEASING

Reeve Morton, expressing pleasure at the result, said he was particularly happy about the Chemainus vote.

"There are several projects in Chemainus to which I would like to direct my attention at once," he said.

He also congratulated the victorious council candidates.

While there was no mayorality race in Duncan, with Mayor Jack Dobson returned by acclamation, wide interest was centred on two plebiscites — one seeking an opinion on Sunday movies; the other on city purchase of land from the Cowichan-Cricket Club.

Both of these were given big favorable votes.

Red Cross To Stage Clinics

Greater Victoria Red Cross workers will hold several blood donor clinics this month, beginning with a clinic at Red Cross House, 1044 Fort, Dec. 10. The clinic will be opened from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Other clinics: Dec. 11 — legislative buildings, west wing, main building, 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Dec. 12 — HMC Dockyard, gymnasium, HMC's Venture, 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m.

Mountie and George Barr go through drill that usually leads to bad guys. Husky Alsatian, who Mr. Barr says off duty is house pet, takes a whiff of a glove in an exercise for pho-

Dog Bolsters Force

By BOB PETHICK

A four-legged sleuth named Mountie has joined the Victoria police force to aid in sniffing out prowlers, break-in thugs and general ne'er do wells.

The four-year-old veteran Alsatian and his handler, George Barr, have been taken on by the Victoria city police department on a 90-day trial basis following a recent recommendation by Police Chief J. P. Gregory.

Crowd Control

Mountie is a familiar figure in the Greater Vancouver area. He and handler Barr have been used in crowd control at rock and roll dances, drive-in patrols and a variety of jobs at which dogs are often more efficient than a uniformed man.

Mountie's first, big claim to fame in Victoria came a short while ago on Millstream Road when he and Mr. Barr were called in to locate a pack of narcotics.

Located Drugs

Mountie humped out of the car in the general vicinity, on orders from his boss took a few sniffs around and within a short while nearly $5,000 in narcotics were in the hands of the police.

Over a period of years doubts have been expressed about using dogs for police work but more recently these are diminishing.

Dogs are now in use with great success in many police forces.

How long does it take to train a dog?

Forever.

Four Flee Jail

BURNABY (CP)—Four inmates of Oakalla prison farm escaped over a prison fence yesterday and fled on foot. The four, members of a work party in the prison yard, were identified as Victor Ashton, 43; William Henderson, 45; Frank Schlosser, 32, and Philip Cooper, 37.

Mr. Barr believes training never stops, but six to nine months is sufficient to start a dog on the road to police work.

Mountie's behaviour is strictly governed by his master.

"We work as a team. A dog is only as good as his handler," says Mr. Barr.

Though trained to attack when ordered, the husky Alsatian is victim off the lead. When tracking a prowler, dog and handler work as a pair.

Always on Call

Mountie and boss are on call 24 hours a day and once on the scene of a break-in or a prowler call, he and the dog take over.

What is it like to live with a dog that has been trained to hunt down the bad guys?

"At home he is our house pet," says Mr. Barr.

Nose to Ground

Should you happen to be wandering along Victoria's streets in the wee hours of the morning, and see a large dog, nose to the ground, and a man in a green uniform trotting alongside — don't be alarmed. The big dog won't hurt you; just feel sorry for the man at the other end of the scent.

In next Thursday's civic elections seven candidates will compete for four city council seats and four candidates will contest two vacant seats on Greater Victoria school board.

Voting will be held between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. Dec. 12 in the Victoria Ballroom, Courmorant and Government.

Although lack of a mayoralty election is bound to affect the turnout, ratepayers will also be voting on an important $375,000 money bylaw for renovation of the police station and construction of a new magistrate's court.

When nominations closed at 2 p.m. yesterday candidates for council seats were: incumbents Geoffrey Edgell, J. L. W. McLean, M. H. Mooney and Lily Wilson; newcomer Mrs. H. I. MacKenzie; Robert Baird and Victor Williams, both of whom have made previous unsuccessful bids for election.

For school trustee, late-comers to the election scene, Leslie Spencer, a medical photographer, and Edward John Wood, business proprietor, will compete for the two seats with incumbent John Porteous and former trustee Ralph Fyler.

MURPHY, WURTELE AND COX RECEIVE NOD FROM VOTERS

Stiff Fight Put Up By Lum

By JACK FRY

Incumbent Reeve Stanley Murphy defeated challenger Edward Lum by only 184 votes yesterday in Saanich, where only 22 per cent of the 25,962 eligible voters bothered to cast their ballots.

Mr. Lum, who led the polls most of the way and gave Saanich the closest reeveship race it has known in years, said he still holds hopes of winning the reeveship when the ballots are rechecked by the returning officer.

Reeve Murphy said "the contest for reeveship establishes Ed Lum as a very well-respected citizen who will be heard from in the future."

council seat. Sharing the victory limelight after hard-fought campaign are George Argyle, left, G. T. Horne and Arthur Mebs.—(Bud Kinsman)

Turnout Sets Record

By BOB PETHICK

A record 57 per cent of Esquimalt's eligible voters turned out for yesterday's municipal election and gave overwhelming support to Reeve A. C. Wurtele and his three independent supporters.

New councillors to be sworn in at the end of the year are Arthur Mebs, George Argyle, a former Esquimalt councillor, and G. T. Horne.

The huge vote was an obvious gesture on the part of Esquimalt to vindicate Reeve Wurtele of intimidation charges made in council two weeks ago.

FIRST COUNT

From the time the first count was in there was little doubt about the outcome, with the three independent candidates leading by more than 100 votes.

A gallery of interested spectators sat in the public seats in council chambers as municipal clerk Jack Allen rallied his staff in the vote count.

NOISE GREW

As the first votes were chalked up, noise in the chambers grew until the clerk had to call for silence.

The municipal hall was the scene of back slapping, interjected with a few "I told you so's."

WILL GET OUT

"Oh well, c'est la guerre," said defeated councillor Cassels. "I didn't think I was going to get in. But it goes to show one thing, give the people an issue and they will get out and vote."

Coun. Cassels was the mover of a motion of censure against Reeve Wurtele at a council meeting two weeks ago, the reason, many felt, that so many people went to the polls.

Youngest Reeve In Office

By HARVEY SHEPHERD

Oak Bay electors last night endorsed the kind of government they've been getting in an election which gave Oak Bay its first woman councillor ever and its youngest reeve.

Electors gave 36-year-old Coun. Allan Cox, announced favorite of retiring Reeve George Murdoch, a thumping 2,363-to-1,020 victory over his only opponent, Coun. J. D. Watts.

FIRST WOMAN

And they handed Mrs. Frances Elford a 2,165 to 1,950 margin over the next-highest polling candidate to give her a two-year term as the first woman ever to serve on Oak Bay council. Incumbent councillors Walter Dodsworth and W. J. Wade topped the polls in their bid for two-year seats with 2,376 and 2,265 votes, respectively, and Mrs. Elford was next in line.

CRITICS FAIL

In the race for the three two-year terms the two most vigorous critics of council policy, lawyer Donald Cameron and school teacher Eric Makovski, lost out polling 1,950 and 1,156.

In a race for a one-year term created by Coun. Watts' resignation to seek the reeveship, Oak Bay public accountant Peter Lovrie beat out colorful "light-house philosopher" Bill Scott by a resounding 2,708 to 772.

REEVE HAPPY

Reeve Murdoch said he was happy with the results, and said electors have chosen a council that will continue the calibre of government Oak Bay has had continuously for 37 years.

He said that he is happy to finally see a woman on council, that a woman's viewpoint is an essential thing in civic government and that Mrs. Elford is "a brilliant woman with a long list of achievements to her credit in the community."

LIGHT TURNOUT

But he was sharply critical of the light voting turnout—3,594 of an eligible 8,852 or 42.02 per cent, as compared with 45.1 per cent in 1961, the last time there was an election for reeve.

Reeve-elect Cox said he thinks the reeve's biggest job is promoting intermunicipal co-operation. He said he does not think the reeve's job is to dictate policy to council and he is "delighted" with the team of councillors elected "and to have a woman on council."

"I know Frances and I know she has an open mind," he said.

Cutbacks Hit Economy

Another Bad Blow!

Defence cutbacks announced in Ottawa yesterday is another serious blow to the economy of this area, said Victoria Chamber of Commerce president E. E. Pearman.

"We appreciate the purpose of these cutbacks, nevertheless it is unfortunate that the West Coast seems to have suffered another blow to its economy," he said.

"It seems to me that the accumulative effect of the navy frigate cancellation, loss of a heavy water plant contract to eastern interests, along with military cutbacks is unfortunate to this whole area," said Mr. Pearman.

At least six military operations near Victoria will be affected by Defence Minister Hellyer's plan for "judicious pruning" of $31,750,000 from the skyrocketing defence expenditure estimated at $1,600,000,000.

Royal Roads military college, however, will be kept open even though its closure was recommended by the Glasco royal commission on government organization. Mr. Hellyer told the Commons yesterday.

FIRST REPORTS

First reports from Ottawa indicated that the naval reserve division HMCS Malahat, 1002 Wharf Street, will be disbanded; that naval reserve air squadron VC-922 at Patricia Bay Airport will be disbanded and that the navy's utility air squadron VU-33 at Patricia Bay will be reduced.

The navy's fleet of 20 auxiliary vessels, manned by 251 civilian personnel in Esquimalt, will be affected by a decision to take 10 of the navy's 160 auxiliary vessels out of service.

Vancouver Island's 1,000-member militia group headed by Col. Peter F. Ramsay, commander 25 Militia Group, also will be affected. If it is national policy, Canada's militia manpower from 51,000 to 30,000.

The RCAF Search and Rescue Unit at Vancouver will be transferred to Comox on Vancouver Island.

"This comes as no surprise but we don't know when it will take place or how we will be affected. If it is national policy, we would expect to take our lumps along with everyone else," said Col. Ramsay.

OFFICER CADETS

HMCS Malahat has about 180 officers, men and Wrens, under the command of Cmdr. Peter Thomas. The division administers 20 officer cadets from the University of Victoria, who are under the university naval training division.

HMCS Malahat also adminis-

U.S. Securities 'Police' Complain of B.C. Mine

SEATTLE (AP) — The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission filed a complaint in United States district court Thursday against New Reufus Argenta Mines Ltd., a British Columbia corporation.

The complaint said no registration had been filed with the commission and that misleading statements had been issued in connection with a stock offer. It seeks preliminary and permanent injunctions against the firm.

Colonist 500 Fund

Here's How to Turn Old Toys Into Cash

Date of the annual toy auction which swells the funds of The Daily Colonist Christmas 500 Fund is fast approaching and toys are urgently needed.

The auction will be held at Maynard's auction rooms, 733 Johnson Street, Dec. 17.

Auctioneers' commission is turned over to the 500 Fund by Maynard's. This annual toy auction gives Victorians a chance to turn discarded playthings into cash and help recipients of the 500 Fund as well.

Maynard's will accept for auction any toys still in good repair and Art Kool of Reliable Transfer Co. will pick them up and deliver them to the auction rooms free of charge where a reasonable number are available.

Anyone wishing to donate a toy for the auction may bring them to Maynard's auction rooms, 733 Johnson St., Monday through Saturday between 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Every cent raised by the auction and every cent donated to the 500 Fund goes to Greater Victoria's 500 most needy families as a Christmas present.

Donations may be brought or mailed to The Daily Colonist, 2631 Douglas, or left at Acousticon of Victoria during business hours.

New Hall Backed By Saanich Voters

Saanich voters last night indicated their overwhelming support for construction of a new municipal hall, when 69 per cent of the voters approved a municipal hall referendum which required a staggering 60 per cent support for approval.

Reeve Stanley Murphy announced within minutes of his re-election that the municipal hall bylaw will be given final reading at Monday's council meeting and that detailed plans will be called for from the architect so tenders can be called early in the spring of 1964.

BY SUMMER

"We hope construction of the new $785,000 hall can be started by summer, but we will be lucky if we get the hall finished by December 1964," he said.

Passage of the municipal hall referendum "indicates the people of Saanich are prepared to provide the necessary administrative quarters for the staff," said the reeve.

All set for the wet weather, Bonnie Davis, in town to publicize the Ice Capades, is pictured as she arrived at the Colonist yesterday.—(Bud Kinsman).

Eyes Turn When Blonde Walks In

By DOROTHY WROTONSKI

Yesterday a blonde doll walked into the social department of this paper. And by the time she reached "social," every male reporter's eyes had literally swivelled in this direction. You couldn't blame them.

For the object of this attention was Bonnie Davis, a former Miss Winnipeg.

The petite, glamorous Miss Davis, with her honey-colored hair and large brown eyes, held that attention all the time she was in the office.

Bonnie is here for two days to publicize the Ice Capades that is coming to Victoria on Dec. 20. She's good at her job. "I hope you will tell everyone that there will be auditions for Victoria skaters immediately following the show on opening night. That will be about 11 p.m."

Born in Calgary, Bonnie moved to Winnipeg at an early age and received her education there. But Calgary still holds attraction. "We went back every year for the stampede," she says. And it was while visiting in Calgary that she could go horseback riding, which she loves.

Bonnie has had quite a varied career since finishing school at 17. That was four years ago. She started off as a private secretary, then moved into the fashion and modelling field. Next she was on TV as a fashion commentator and doing commercials.

Late last spring she joined the Ice Capades to do publicity work. "I wanted to travel, and when you get paid for something you want to do, well, it was almost too good to be true."

Now, after being on the move for seven months, in Texas, Arizona, Oklahoma, Louisiana, New Mexico, California and the Northwest, she is just as keen. "You meet so many marvelous people from all over the world and see so many interesting sights."

Bonnie was in Vancouver for the Grey Cup game last weekend—she's a keen football fan. It was her second big game, as she was at the fogged-out game in Toronto last year. A short holiday is in store when she leaves here for her home in Winnipeg. She will see her toy poodle, Fifi, who has travelled with her until her mother and sister took her back to Winnipeg from Vancouver this week.

After Winnipeg, it will be on the road again. As far east as Ontario, then back to Hollywood.

Mother Designs Gown

Juanita Anne Swanson became the bride of Mr. James Robert Proudlove in a pretty late-autumn wedding at All Saints' Church, View Royal.

Rev. John Vickers officiated at the afternoon ceremony for the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Swanson, of Cape Mudge, and the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Proudlove, 2811 Adelaide Street.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was radiant in a white duchess satin short gown, made by her mother. Her short veil misted from a tiny floral coronet. White carnations were in her bridal bouquet.

Bridesmaid Miss Sandra Rawles chose a short-length flamingo lace gown styled with bouffant skirt. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Tom Swanson, bride's brother, was best man. Messrs. Ken and Donald Proudlove, brother and cousin of the groom, were ushers.

An attractive wedding cake, made by the groom's mother, centred the bridal table at a reception held at the home of the groom's parents.

For a honeymoon trip on the mainland the bride changed to a grey boxer-style suit with red accessories.

CENTENNIAL UNITED
Centennial United Church Women will hold their annual meeting and election of officers on Wednesday, Dec. 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the Howard Harris Building on David Street and Gorge Road.

HOW TO Decorate

If you've wall space going to waste, make it a practical and decorative asset in your room. For the amount of floor space it takes, a storage wall gives you maximum return in space-consciousness and convenience. You can buy adjustable shelves and arrange them to suit your exact needs, modular units in a variety of depths, or stack-on storage furniture that can be arranged to include space for books, a desk area, music centre, serving buffet—whatever you need. You'll find new storage shelves and furniture to suit any decorating style. —(Better Homes and Gardens)

Mrs. Moore Heads C.A.R.S. Auxiliary

Mrs. L. J. Moore was named President of the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society at the annual meeting at Red Cross House.

Other officers elected were Mrs. A. J. Bowring, first vice-president; Mrs. A. C. Fether, second vice-president; Mrs. G. J. Wilkie, secretary; Mrs. A. B. Humber, treasurer; Mrs. S. F. Corless, corresponding secretary.

Senator Nancy Hodges consented to stand as honorary president, and Mrs. E. C. Carson and Mrs. Bruce Hutchison consented to stand as honorary vice-presidents.

Mrs. W. Redford, retiring president, reported on the year's activities which included 746 visits to patients; 1,317 hours given by volunteer clinic aides; daily transportation supplied by volunteer drivers under leadership of Mr. A. F. Corker.

In addition a sum of $1,091.96 was spent on clinic equipment, patients' self-aids, Christmas gifts and ceramic and weaving classes. In the entertainment program the patients were guests at a tea in June.

Mrs. J. Hopkinson, president of Victoria branch, spoke on the two legacies allowing bursaries to be awarded two local students wishing to train as physiotherapists.

Mrs. D. C. Todd and Mrs. G. Grossman convened the tea which followed the business meeting. Mrs. G. W. Hunt and Miss Amy Willis presided at the tea table.

MURPHY, WURTELE AND COX RECEIVE NOD FROM VOTERS

Stiff Fight Put Up By Lum

By JACK FRY

Incumbent Reeve Stanley Murphy defeated challenger Edward Lum by only 184 votes yesterday in Saanich, where only 22 per cent of the 25,962 eligible voters bothered to cast their ballots.

Mr. Lum, who led the polls most of the way and gave Saanich the closest reeve race it has known in years, said he still holds hopes of winning the reeve ship when the ballots are rechecked by the returning officer.

Reeve Murphy said "the contest for reeve ship established Ed Lum as a very well-respected citizen who will be heard from in the future." The small turnout of voters

Victorious Reeve A. C. Wurtele is carried in victory by the three winning council contenders after decisive vote swept him back into Esquimalt

council seat. Sharing the victory limelight after hard-fought campaign are George Argyle, left, G. T. Horne and Arthur Mebs. (Bud Kinsman)

Turnout Sets Record

By BOB PETHICK

A record 57 per cent of Esquimalt's eligible voters turned out for yesterday's municipal election and gave overwhelming support to Reeve A. C. Wurtele and his three independent supporters.

New councillors to be sworn in at the end of the year are Arthur Mebs, George Argyle, a former Esquimalt councillor, and G. T. Horne.

The huge vote was an obvious gesture on the part of Esquimalt to vindicate Reeve Wurtele of intimidation charges made in council two weeks ago.

FIRST COUNT

From the time the first count was in there was little doubt about the outcome, with the three independent candidates leading by more than 100 votes. A gallery of interested spectators sat in the public seats in council chambers as municipal clerk Jack Allen rallied his staff in the vote count.

NOISE GREW

As the first votes were chalked up, noise in the chambers grew until the clerk had to call for silence.

The municipal hall was the scene of back slapping, interjected with a few "I told you so's."

WILL GET OUT

"Oh well, c'est la guerre," said defeated councillor Cassels. "I didn't think I was going to get in. But it goes to show one thing, give the people an issue and they will get out and vote."

Coun. Cassels was the mover of a motion of censure against Reeve Wurtele at a council meeting two weeks ago, the reason, many felt, that so many people went to the polls.

Youngest Reeve In Office

By HARVEY SHEPHERD

Oak Bay electors last night endorsed the kind of government they've been getting in an election which gave Oak Bay its first woman councillor ever and its youngest reeve.

Electors gave 36-year-old Coun. Allan Cox, announced favorite of retiring Reeve George Murdoch, a thumping 2,563-to-1,020 victory over his only opponent, Coun. J. D. Watts.

FIRST WOMAN

And they handed Mrs. Frances Elford a 2,165 to 1,939 margin over the next-highest polling candidate to give her a two-year term as the first woman ever to serve on Oak Bay council.

Incumbent councillors Walter Dodsworth and W. J. Wade topped the polls in their bid for two-year seats with 2,376 and 2,305 votes, respectively, and Mrs. Elford was next in line.

CRITICS FAIL

In the race for the three two-year terms the two most vicious critics of council policy, lawyer Donald Cameron and school teacher Eric Makovski, lost out, polling 1,959 and 1,156, respectively.

In a race for a one-year term created by Coun. Watts' resignation to seek the reeve ship, Oak Bay public accountant Peter Lovrie beat out colorful "light-bouse philosopher" Bill Scott by a resounding 2,798 to 772.

Reeve Murdoch said he was happy with the results, and said electors have chosen a council that will continue the calibre of government Oak Bay has had continuously for 57 years.

He said that he is happy to finally see a woman on council, that a woman's viewpoint is an essential thing in civic government and that Mrs. Elford is "a brilliant woman with a long list of achievements to her credit in the community."

LIGHT TURNOUT

But he was sharply critical of the light voting turnout — 3,594 of an eligible 8,832 or 42.02 per cent, as compared with 45.1 per cent in 1961, the last time there was an election for reeve.

Reeve-elect Cox said he thinks the reeve's biggest job is promoting intermunicipal co-operation. He said he does not think the reeve's job is to dictate policy to council and he is "delighted" with the team of councillors elected — and to have a woman on council.

"I know Frances and I know she has an open mind," he said.

Cutbacks Hit Economy

Another Bad Blow!

Defence cutbacks announced in Ottawa yesterday in another serious blow to the economy of this area, said Victoria Chamber of Commerce president E. E. Pearman.

"We appreciate the purpose of these cutbacks, nevertheless it is unfortunate that the West Coast seems to have suffered another blow to its economy," he said.

"It seems to me that the accumulative effect of the navy frigate cancellation, loss of a heavy water plant contract to eastern interests, along with military cutbacks is unfortunate to this whole area," said Mr. Pearman.

At least six military operations near Victoria will be affected by Defence Minister Hellyer's plan for "judicious pruning" of $31,750,000 from the skyrocketing defence expenditure estimated at $1,600,000,000.

Royal Roads military college, however, will be kept open even though its closure was recommended by the Glassco royal commission on government organization. Mr. Hellyer told the Commons yesterday.

FIRST REPORTS

First reports from Ottawa indicated that the naval reserve division HMCS Malahat, 1002 Wharf Street, will be disbanded; that naval reserve air squadron VC-922 at Patricia Bay Airport will be disbanded and that the navy's utility air squadron VU-33 at Patricia Bay will be reduced.

The navy's fleet of 20 auxiliary vessels, manned by 251 civilian personnel in Esquimalt, will be affected by a decision to take 10 of the navy's 160 auxiliary vessels out of service.

Vancouver Island's 1,000-member militia group headed by Col. Peter F. Ramsay, commander 25 Militia Group, also will be affected. If it is national policy, Canada's militia manpower from 51,000 to 30,000.

The RCAF Search and Rescue Unit at Vancouver will be transferred to Comox on Vancouver Island.

"This comes as no surprise but we don't know when it will take place or how we will be affected. If it is national policy, we would expect to take our lumps along with everyone else," said Col. Ramsay.

OFFICER CADETS

HMCS Malahat has about 180 officers, men and Wrens, under the command of Cmdr. Peter Thomas. The division administers 20 officer cadets from the University of Victoria, who are under the university naval training division.

Colonist 500 Fund

Here's How to Turn Old Toys Into Cash

Date of the annual toy auction which swells the funds of The Daily Colonist Christmas 500 Fund is fast approaching and toys are urgently needed.

The auction will be held at Maynard's auction rooms, 733 Johnson Street, Dec. 17.

Auctioneers' commission is turned over to the 500 Fund by Maynard's. This annual toy auction gives Victorians a chance to turn discarded playthings into cash and help recipients of the 500 Fund as well.

Maynard's will accept for auction any toys still in good repair and Art Kool of Reliable Transfer Co. will pick them up and deliver them to the auction rooms free of charge where a reasonable number are available.

Anyone wishing to donate a toy for the auction may bring them to Maynard's auction rooms, 733 Johnson St., Monday through Saturday between 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Every cent raised by the auction and every cent donated to the 500 Fund goes to Greater Victoria's 500 most needy families as a Christmas present.

Donations may be brought or mailed to The Daily Colonist, 2631 Douglas, or left at Acousticon of Victoria during business hours.

New Hall Backed By Saanich Voters

Saanich voters last night indicated their overwhelming support for construction of a new municipal hall, when 69 per cent of the voters approved a municipal hall referendum which required a staggering 60 per cent support for approval.

Reeve Stanley Murphy announced within minutes of his re-election that the municipal hall bylaw will be given final reading at Monday's council meeting and that detailed plans will be called for from the architect so tenders can be called early in the spring of 1964.

BY SUMMER

"We hope construction of the new $785,000 hall can be started by summer, but we will be lucky if we get the hall finished by December 1964," he said.

Passage of the municipal hall referendum "indicates the people of Saanich are prepared to provide the necessary administrative quarters for the staff," said the reeve.

Quick Help Thick Lip

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Polithman," William Barnes lipslapped Thursday, "don't help me again."

Barnes was struggling Wednesday night with three thugs when Det. Sgt. William Runge came to his rescue. Runge swung and connected — right on the mouth of Barnes.

The thugs got away with Barnes' wallet containing $25.

U.S. Securities 'Police' Complain of B.C. Mine

SEATTLE (AP) — The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission filed a complaint in United States district court Thursday against New Redus Argenta Mines Ltd., a British Columbia corporation.

The complaint said no registration had been filed with the commission and that misleading statements had been issued in connection with a stock offer. It seeks preliminary and permanent injunctions against the firm.
